The authors wish to thank their editors at Cambridge University Press, especially Martine Walsh and Caroline Thiriau who have provided invaluable professional expertise and guidance throughout the project. We very much appreciate the importance of their input at every stage of our work. We also thank Alyson Maskell for all the highly valued experience and skills she brought to the preparation of the manuscript for production and printing.

We must also thank the lexicographers and electronic team at Cambridge University Press. We are particularly grateful for their analysis of phrasal verbs in the Cambridge International Corpus in their development of the Cambridge Dictionary of Phrasal Verbs. Our selection of phrasal verbs for this book is firmly based on this work.

The book has also benefited enormously from the very useful feedback we have received from teachers and students. In particular we would like to thank the following teachers who reviewed and piloted the material throughout its development:

David Matley, Germany
Rui da Silva, South Korea
Colin Mackenzie, France
Gillian Davidson, Russia
Barbara Gardner, UK
Marie Bojarová, Czech Republic
Magdalena Kijak, UK
Dennis Akers, Spain
Kevin Rutherford, Poland

Also, as always, we are grateful to our domestic partners for their patience and support during the writing of this book.

Michael McCarthy and Felicity O'Dell

Development of this publication has made use of the Cambridge International Corpus (CIC). The CIC is a computerised database of contemporary spoken and written English, which currently stands at over one billion words. It includes British English, American English and other varieties of English. It also includes the Cambridge Learner Corpus, developed in collaboration with the University of Cambridge ESOL Examinations. Cambridge University Press has built up the CIC to provide evidence about language use that helps to produce better language teaching materials.

Using this book

Why was this book written?

It was written to help you take your knowledge of phrasal verbs to a more advanced level. It is intended for students who already have at least an upper intermediate level of English. Many of you will have already worked with English Phrasal Verbs in Use Intermediate and this book builds on the work done there. However, it does not matter if you have gained your knowledge of phrasal verbs in a different way. We do not assume that you have used English Phrasal Verbs in Use Intermediate, although we do present and practise either different phrasal verbs in this book or, occasionally, more advanced uses of verbs that were presented in the lower level book.

How were the phrasal verbs in this book selected?

The approximately 1,000 phrasal verbs and related nouns and adjectives which are presented in this book were all selected from those identified as significant by the CANCODE corpus of spoken English developed at the University of Nottingham in association with Cambridge University Press, and the Cambridge International Corpus of written and spoken English. The phrasal verbs selected are accordingly also to be found in the Cambridge Phrasal Verbs Dictionary, where you can find additional usage notes and examples. You can search this dictionary online by going to the following website: www.dictionary.cambridge.org.

How is the book organised?

The book has 60 two-page units. The left-hand page explains the phrasal verbs that are presented in the unit. You will usually find an explanation of the meaning of the phrasal verb, an example of it in use and, where appropriate, some comments on when and how it is used. The exercises on the right-hand page check that you have understood the information on the left-hand page and give you practice in using the material presented.

The units are organised into different sections.

First we start with important information about phrasal verbs in general (Units 1–4): what they are, how their grammar works and so on. We strongly recommend that you do these units first.

The next section looks at some interesting aspects of more advanced phrasal verbs, dealing with such important issues as collocation, register and metaphor. As these are themes that are returned to throughout the book, it is a good idea to work through these units before progressing to other more specific units.

After these two introductory sections, there is a section dealing with some of the most common particles used in forming phrasal verbs. Working on these units will help you to gain a feeling for the force of these particles and will help you have a feeling for the meaning of a phrasal verb you are meeting for the first time.

The next two sections deal with Concepts (e.g. Change) and Functions (e.g. Arranging things). These sections are followed by a large number of topic-based units focusing on different aspects of Work, Personal life and The world around us.

The final section looks at some of the most common verbs which are used to form phrasal verbs.

The book has a key to all the exercises so that you can check your answers. At the back of the book you will also find a useful Mini dictionary. This provides clear definitions of all the phrasal verbs and related noun and adjective forms that appear in this book. The Mini dictionary also indicates the unit number where you can find a particular phrasal verb.
How should I use this book?

It is strongly recommended that you work through Units 1–4 first so that you become familiar with the way phrasal verbs (and their associated nouns and adjectives) operate and with the terminology that is used in the rest of the book. Then we suggest that you move on to Units 5–9 and after that you may work on the units in any order that suits you.

What else do I need in order to work with this book?

You need a notebook or file so that you can write down the phrasal verbs that you study in the book as well as any others that you come across elsewhere.

You also need to have access to a good dictionary. We strongly recommend the Cambridge Phrasal Verbs Dictionary as this gives you exactly the kind of information that you need to have about phrasal verbs. Your teacher, however, may also be able to recommend other dictionaries that you may find useful.

So all that remains is to say Go for it! (Unit 31). We hope you’ll find this an enjoyable as well as a useful way to keep up and extend your knowledge of English phrasal verbs in use.
Phrasal verbs: what are they and how are they used?

What are phrasal verbs?

Phrasal verbs are verbs that consist of a verb and a particle (a preposition or adverb) or a verb and two particles (an adverb and a preposition, as in get on with or look forward to). They are identified by their grammar (more about that in Unit 2), but it is probably best to think of them as individual vocabulary items, to be learnt in phrases or chunks. They often – but not always – have a one-word equivalent. For example, you can come across a new phrasal verb or you can encounter it. You can pick up a language or you can acquire it. Come across and pick up sound less literary or formal than encounter or acquire.

Why are phrasal verbs important?

Phrasal verbs are extremely common in English. They are found in a wide variety of contexts. You may have noticed them in songs, for example the Beatles’ ‘I’ll get by with a little help from my friends’ or Roll over Beethoven, Bob Marley’s ‘Get up, stand up and Red Hot Chili Peppers’ ‘Knock me down’. You find them in film titles such as The Empire Strikes Back, Spirited Away, Along Came Polly or Cast Away. They are very frequent in newspaper headlines. Here are just a few examples:

- Country’s misplaced pride holds back its democracy
- Cover-up raises fears over bird flu
- Cricket: England holds out for a draw
- Turner adds up likely cost of pensions

Phrasal verbs are common in less formal English but you will also hear or see and need to use them in more formal contexts. Register is discussed in more detail in Unit 6.

Which phrasal verbs does this book deal with?

This book is based on information gained from the Cambridge International Corpus (a huge computerised database of present-day English) about phrasal verbs and how they are used in contemporary English. It focuses on phrasal verbs more advanced students need to know – but in general does not deal with the verbs in the lower level English Phrasal Verbs in Use Intermediate. It includes phrasal nouns like standby or onset (see Unit 3) and phrasal adjectives such as outgoing or worn out (see Unit 4).

What can I do to help myself master phrasal verbs?

Try to think positively about them! And, now you are at a more advanced level, try not just to understand them, but also to use them in your own speaking and writing.

Keep an eye open for them whenever you are reading anything in English and make a note of any interesting ones you find. Write them down in a complete phrase or a sentence to fix in your mind how they are used.

Be aware that one of the special features of phrasal verbs is that some of them have many different meanings – for example, you can pick something up from the floor, you can pick up a language or bad habits, the weather can pick up, you can pick up a bargain, a radio can pick up a signal, the economy can pick up, you can pick up a story where you left it, you can pick someone up in your car. Sometimes the meanings are clearly related, some being more literal and some more metaphorical. Unit 7 deals with this in more detail.

In this book we may not present all the meanings of the verbs that are included. You may find others in English Phrasal Verbs in Use Intermediate and there are still more in the Cambridge Phrasal Verbs Dictionary.
Exercises

1.1 Underline the phrasal verbs in these texts. Remember the particle or preposition may not be immediately next to the verb.

1. I decided to take up gardening, so I went to the library, took a book out and read up on the subject. I found out so many interesting things, such as the best time to plant flowers out for the summer and how to grow vegetables. I’ve really got into it now and spend hours in the garden every weekend.

2. The other day we went off on a hike in the mountains. We put our wet-weather gear on as the weather forecast wasn’t good. We set off early to avoid the rush hour and soon reached the starting point for our walk. The whole walk took about four hours and when we got back we were exhausted.

3. I have to catch up on my coursework this weekend as I’ve fallen behind a bit. I worked on till midnight last night but I still have loads to do. I have to hand one essay in on Tuesday and another one on Friday. I’m not sure whether I’ll make it, but I’ll try.

1.2 Choose the correct particle to finish these song titles.

1. Can’t get you off / from / out of / away from my head (Kylie Minogue)
2. Hold you against / down / at (Jennifer Lopez)
3. We can work it with / across / out (The Beatles)
4. Send from / in / with the clowns (Barbra Streisand)

1.3 Complete the sentences in the right-hand column with a phrasal noun or adjective based on the phrasal verbs in the left-hand column. Use a dictionary if necessary, and remember that the particle may come at the beginning or end of the noun or adjective.

| The school took in some outstanding students last year. | Last year’s ……………………… included some outstanding students. |
| Some prisoners broke out of the local prison last night. | There was a(n) ……………………… at the local prison last night. |
| It was an experience that put everyone off. | It was a(n) ……………………… experience. |
| She always speaks out and gives her opinion. | She is very ……………………… |
| A lorry which had broken down was blocking the road. | A ……………………… lorry was blocking the road. |

1.4 Match the headlines with the sentences from the stories.

1. BIG SHAKE-UP EXPECTED IN EDUCATION
   a) The dispute is now in its fifth week.

2. MINISTER DENIES COVER-UP
   b) Unity was no longer possible, a spokesperson said.

3. LOCKOUT CONTINUES AT AVIATION PLANT
   c) The event happened at 7.45 pm with no warning.

4. BREAKAWAY GROUP TO FORM NEW PARTY
   d) There will be major changes at all levels.

5. POWER PLANT SHUTDOWN LEAVES 5,000 HOMES IN DARKNESS
   e) There was no attempt to hide the truth, claimed Pamela Harding.
Grammar of phrasal verbs

Phrasal verbs with and without objects
Some phrasal verbs take an object (transitive); others do not take an object (intransitive).

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>with object (transitive)</th>
<th>no object (intransitive)</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>They're knocking down the old hotel.</td>
<td>The path branched off(^1) to the river.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The plumber soon sorted out the shower problem.</td>
<td>The noise of the train died away.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>She tied her hair back so she could work better.</td>
<td>In the winter the lake froze over.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>

\(^1\) if a road or path branches off, it goes in another direction

Some verbs can be used both with and without an object, but the meaning may change. Use the context to decide if the verb has a different meaning from the one you are familiar with.

Tina and Jo were so clever the teacher moved them up to a higher class. (with object)
Tina and Jo moved up to a higher class. (no object = same meaning)
I can drop you off at the station. (with object = drive you somewhere and leave you there)
I was sitting in the armchair and I dropped off. (no object = fell asleep, different meaning)

Some verbs must have two objects, one after the verb and one after the particle.

I always associate that song with our holiday in Jamaica.
Playing tennis for three hours every evening after school deprived her of her youth.

Position of the object
In many cases, the particle may come before or after the object.

The teacher marked two students down / marked down two students because they answered the wrong questions in the exam.

Very long objects usually come after the particle.
The accident cut off domestic and industrial water and electricity supplies.

When the object is a personal pronoun, the pronoun always comes before the particle.

<thead>
<tr>
<th>noun object</th>
<th>personal pronoun object</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>I picked my parents up / picked up my parents and drove them to the airport.</td>
<td>I’ll pick you up at 5.30. (Not: I’ll pick you up at 5.30.)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Some verbs (sometimes called prepositional verbs) must have the object after the particle, even if it is a pronoun. A good dictionary will tell you if this is so.

We’ve had to contend with a lot of problems lately. (Not: contend a lot of problems with)
[deal with a difficult or unpleasant situation]

You probably already know some of these verbs (look for, look after, cope with).

Three-part verbs
Some phrasal verbs have three parts, the verb and two particles. The object comes last.

I will not put up with such bad behaviour. [tolerate]

Other examples include look forward to, look down on, get on with, catch up on [do something you did not have time to do earlier], face up to [accept that a difficult or unpleasant situation exists].
Exercises

2.1 Look at A. Do these sentences need an object? If they do, add an appropriate one in the correct place.

EXAMPLE Last summer we knocked down.

Yes. Knock down is transitive; it needs an object.

Last summer we knocked down the old shed in our garden.

1 The sound of the violin slowly died away.
2 If you’re ready to leave now I can drop off at your office.
3 The river in St Petersburg freezes over for several months each year.
4 My son is so good at English that I think the teachers should move up to the class above.
5 I associate with that evening we spent together in Rome.
6 I was so tired that I dropped off in front of the TV.

2.2 Put the words in the correct order to make sentences. If you can do it in two different ways, then do so.

1 pick / off / you / work / the / I / and / can / at / you / from / airport / up / drop / then
2 from / that / put / teacher / she / The / not / would / said / with / such / up / class / rudeness / her
3 villages / The / off / several / have / mountains / in / cut / the / floods
4 your / doesn’t / the / improve / down / If / will / handwriting / mark / examiners / you
5 always / Margot / to / with / all / seems / her / cheerfully / problems / cope

2.3 Rewrite each sentence using the verb in brackets in an appropriate form.

1 I’ll have to ask my nephew to get my Internet connection working. (SORT)
2 I was so tired after work that I fell asleep in the train on the way home. (DROP)
3 I was given a lower mark because my essay was far too long. (MARK)
4 Bill has no right to despise me – I’m no worse than he is. (LOOK)
5 Lisa doesn’t have a good relationship with one of her flatmates. (GET)
6 You have to accept the fact that you will probably never see each other again. (FACE)
7 Maria has got a new job taking care of an old lady. (LOOK)
8 If you don’t let the children get enough sleep, they won’t be able to concentrate at school. (DEPRAVE)
9 In Lapland we had to manage in some difficult driving conditions. (CONTEND)
10 The road to our house leaves the main road just after the petrol station. (BRANCH)

2.4 Write answers to these questions using the phrasal verb in brackets.

1 What are your plans for the summer holidays? (LOOK FORWARD TO)
2 What homework have you got to do this weekend? (CATCH UP ON)
3 If you’ve been away somewhere by train and arrive back late, how do you usually get home from the railway station? (PICK UP)
4 What is your favourite album and why do you like it? (ASSOCIATE WITH)
5 What sorts of things make you feel stressed? (CONTEND WITH)
6 How easy do you find it to fall asleep at night? (DROP OFF)

Look up these verbs in your dictionary: associate with, deprive of, contend with and face up to. How does your dictionary give information about the structures that these verbs require? What nouns do these verbs typically combine with according to the examples in your dictionary?
Phrasal nouns

What are phrasal nouns?
Like phrasal verbs, phrasal nouns consist of a verb combined with a particle. The particle may come before or after the verb.

<thead>
<tr>
<th>phrasal noun</th>
<th>example</th>
<th>meaning</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>standby</td>
<td>My wife's a pilot and she's on standby over the weekend. We're keeping the old equipment as a standby, in case of emergencies.</td>
<td>ready to be used if necessary</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>letdown</td>
<td>I had been looking forward to the concert for weeks but it turned out to be a terrible letdown.</td>
<td>disappointment</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>back-up</td>
<td>Neil can provide technical back-up if you need it.</td>
<td>support</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>warm-up</td>
<td>The comedian who did the warm-up for the studio audience before the TV programme started was excellent.</td>
<td>preparation</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>onset</td>
<td>The match was halted by the onset of rain.</td>
<td>start of something unpleasant</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>input</td>
<td>Try to come to the meeting -- we'd value your input.</td>
<td>contribution</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>overkill</td>
<td>Shall I add some more decorations to the cake or would that be overkill?</td>
<td>more of something than is needed</td>
</tr>
</tbody>

Some such nouns have a corresponding phrasal verb but some don't. For example, there is no phrasal verb to-kill-over. The phrasal verb set on exists but it means attack. The verb related to onset is set in: We couldn't continue playing after the rain set in.

If the particle is in first place, then the phrasal noun is never written with a hyphen. If the particle comes second, then there is sometimes a hyphen between the two parts of the phrasal noun, particularly if that particle is in or up or if the phrasal noun is relatively infrequent e.g. walk-on [small part, with no words, in a play], stand-off.

When are phrasal nouns used?
Phrasal nouns are used frequently in newspapers and informal conversation.

Anna: Who do you think will get the job -- Paul or Lisa?
Bill: I don't know. It's a toss-up. [(informal) both seem equally likely]
Carla: Did you have a good time at squash last night?
Dave: Yes, but we didn't have a real game, just a knockabout with the ball.

TIP The stress is on the first syllable in these nouns, regardless of whether this is the verb or the particle.
Exercises

3.1 Complete these sentences, using a phrasal noun from A opposite.

1. The .................. of winter meant that there was less food for the animals and birds.
2. I thought having a 45-piece orchestra at their wedding really was .................. , personally.
3. The police officer radioed for .................. before entering the bank.
4. Let's ask Joel what he thinks. I always find his .................. very useful in these matters.
5. TV producers find that studio audiences react better if they have a .................. to watch before a live programme.
6. Our holiday in the Mediterranean was a bit of a .................. . The hotel was second-rate and the food was awful.
7. Although Tim usually rides his new mountain bike to school now, he's kept his old bike as a .................. .

3.2 Rewrite these sentences, starting with the cues given, using phrasal nouns from the opposite page instead of the underlined words.

1. Two men who had stowed away in the container were arrested when police opened it.
   The police opened the container and ...............................................................

2. Negotiations with union members broke down after a couple of hours.
   There was a  ...............................................................

3. The management bought out the company in 2003.
   There was a  ...............................................................

4. Last night all the workers walked out and the factory was forced to close.
   There was a  ...............................................................

5. Military forces are continuing to build up on both sides of the border.
   The military ...............................................................

3.3 Correct the mistakes with the phrasal nouns in these sentences.

1. There has been a stand-up for several days now in the talks between the government and the rebels. Neither side will make any concessions.
2. Last year there were 15,000 new Internet business start-offs, most of which only survived for a few months.
3. After years without releasing a CD, Sonia Flame has staged a come again with her new collection of love songs.
4. Jess: Have you decided where you’re going this summer?
   Kelly: Not really. It’s a toss-over whether it’ll be Italy or Greece.
5. I met Chris and we just had a knockover on the tennis courts for half an hour.

3.4 Choose the correct phrasal noun in each sentence. Use a dictionary if necessary.

1. Putout / Output has increased this year and the factory is doing well.
2. One of the robbers acted as lookout / outlook while the others robbed the bank.
3. There was a sudden pourdown / downpour and we all got very wet.
4. The breakout / outbreak of war in 1914 changed Europe for ever.
5. Lift-off / Off-lift is scheduled for 07.00 on Friday and the shuttle will arrive at the space station later that day.
6. There was a break-in / an in-break at our office last night. Two computers were stolen.
Phrasal adjectives

Some phrasal verbs have related adjectives. Make a note of these as you meet them.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>phrasal verb</th>
<th>adjective</th>
<th>example</th>
<th>meaning</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>go on</td>
<td>ongoing</td>
<td>We've had an ongoing problem with the computer system.</td>
<td>one which continues</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>wear out</td>
<td>worn out</td>
<td>She was wearing old, worn-out shoes.</td>
<td>weak, damaged through much use</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>break down</td>
<td>broken-down</td>
<td>In our garage we've got an old broken-down fridge.</td>
<td>one that has stopped working</td>
</tr>
</tbody>

However, this is not the case for all such adjectives. We can say 'that way of thinking is very outdated', but there is no related verb to date out; we can say 'the restaurant was really overpriced', but there is no phrasal verb to price over (the verb is 'to overprice').

Note the phrasal adjectives in these extracts from people talking about their dreams and ambitions.

I'm an outgoing sort of person, so I want a career where I mix with people. To be honest, I find the idea of a desk job quite off-putting¹; I just don't think I'd like it at all. I'd love to do something new, something completely different.

¹ makes you not like it or not want to do it

I've always been very outspoken. I'm never afraid to express my opinion, so I think a job campaigning for an environmental organisation would suit me. I would never accept any watered-down² proposals and would make some very direct demands of our political leaders.

² made less strong in order to make more people agree with them

I always feel completely tired out at the end of the day in my present job and just want to sleep. Instead of feeling cheerful after a good weekend, I always feel quite downcast³ every Monday when the new week starts, so I want something new and more stimulating, preferably with a more go-ahead company which will bring interest and excitement into my work.

³ sad and depressed

Here are some more examples in small advertisements and announcements.

Forthcoming⁴ events at the City Stadium

Live-in nanny wanted for 3-year-old.

Caravan for sale: built-in fridge, freezer and satellite TV

Fold-up picnic chair for sale. As new.

For rent, cosy one-room flat with foldaway bed. Ideal for student.

When you come across a phrasal adjective, check to see whether it has a 'matching' verb and, if so, learn the two together.
Exercises

4.1 Replace the adjective in each sentence with a phrasal adjective with the opposite meaning.
1 There was a new carpet on the stairs.
2 The newsletter has a list of recent activities at the tennis club.
3 What’s happened? You’re looking very cheerful!
4 Unlike her sister, Emily is very introverted.
5 I find the cover of this novel very attractive, don’t you?
6 It doesn’t matter what time of day it is, Tilly always looks fresh.
7 We are not in the habit of going to such cheap restaurants.
8 When you meet my boss I think you’ll find him surprisingly uncommunicative.

4.2 What do these pictures show?
1 a ................................ chair
2 a ................................ car
3 a ................................ oven
4 a ................................ bed

4.3 Answer these questions about the words on the opposite page.
1 Can you think of one advantage and one disadvantage for parents of having a live-in nanny?
2 In what kind of room might it be particularly useful to have a foldaway bed?
3 What kind of job would not be suitable for a very outspoken person?
4 When might you want to give a watered-down version of something that happened to you?
5 What kind of job requires you to be outgoing?
6 What kind of problem tends to be ongoing?
7 What might you find off-putting if you are having a meal in a restaurant?
8 What sorts of things do you think are often overpriced?

4.4 Match the pairs of synonyms in the box below.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>broken-down</th>
<th>candid</th>
<th>continuing</th>
<th>diluted</th>
<th>downcast</th>
<th>dynamic</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>exhausted</td>
<td>extrovert</td>
<td>forthcoming</td>
<td>future</td>
<td>go-ahead</td>
<td>miserable</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>not working</td>
<td>obsolete</td>
<td>off-putting</td>
<td>ongoing</td>
<td>outdated</td>
<td>outgoing</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>outspoken</td>
<td>repellent</td>
<td>shabby</td>
<td>tired-out</td>
<td>watered-down</td>
<td>worn out</td>
</tr>
</tbody>

4.5 Here are some more phrasal adjectives. Work out from the context what they mean and rewrite the sentences replacing the underlined words with a word or phrase that means the same.
1 If the union doesn’t accept our terms, what should we have as our fallback position?
2 Clare always feels left out when her brother’s friends come round to play.
3 Sophie is usually chatty but her brother is not very forthcoming.
4 You shouldn’t get so worked up about every little thing.
5 Zak met me at the airport with outstretched arms.
Collocation and phrasal verbs

A Why is collocation important?

Collocation means the way words combine with one another. When learning a phrasal verb it is important to note what kinds of words the verb is typically used with. For example, can it be used for both people and things, or only for people, or only for things? Is it typically used with negative things or can it be used for both positive and negative things?

Look at this chart for the verb pore over [study or look carefully at something] and note how the objects it is used with refer especially to books or documents.

Making a note of collocations in this way will help you remember the meaning of the phrasal verb. It is a good idea to learn the verb and its typical collocations as chunks of language. This will help you to speak and write more fluently.

B Collocations with positive or negative/problematic things

Make a note if a phrasal verb collocates especially with positive or negative things.

- typical/correct collocation
- untypical/wrong collocation

Follow-Up
Look back at any other phrasal verbs you have recently written in your vocabulary notebooks. Write them down in some typical collocations. You will find these in the example sentences of a good dictionary e.g. the Cambridge Phrasal Verbs Dictionary.
Register

Phrasal verbs in the English lexicon

The word register is often used to refer to whether a word is formal or informal. It can also be used to refer to the language associated with a particular job or interest.

English vocabulary is particularly rich because it combines a large vocabulary originating from Anglo-Saxon roots with a large vocabulary originating from Latin or French. This means that English often has words with very similar meanings from each of these sources. To give a phrasal verb example, you can put forward or propose an idea, where put forward (like the majority of phrasal verbs) has a typical Anglo-Saxon etymology, whereas propose is of Latin origin. It is interesting to note that propose comes from the Latin prefix pro- [= forward] added to the Latin root -pose [= put]; there are many other examples of where the Latin etymology parallels the etymology of its phrasal verb equivalent. Words of Latin or French origin tend to be more formal and so ‘proposing an idea’ is found more frequently in formal written English than in informal spoken English.

Although phrasal verbs are typical of more informal English, many – like put forward, for example – will also be found in neutral or formal as well as informal contexts. Most phrasal verbs are like this. Some phrasal verbs, however, are only used in either informal or formal situations. We indicate throughout the book when this is the case.

Informal phrasal verbs

Serge: How’s things, Jessie? Is work OK these days?
Jessie: Not really. Sophie’s gunning for¹ me. I think she’s after my job. I mucked up² an important deal yesterday and she was so thrilled!
Serge: Don’t pay any attention to her.
Jessie: I know, but the trouble is Tim’s ganged up³ her now too. So it’s got much worse. They hang around⁴ together in every break and after work too. If Sophie doesn’t shoot down⁵ one of my ideas, Tim does.
Serge: Well, they’re asking for⁶ trouble, aren’t they? You know your boss respects you.
Jessie: Yes, I couldn’t ask for⁷ a better boss, that’s for sure. But he’s got more important things on his plate than sorting out petty office squabbles.

¹ (only used in continuous) trying to cause trouble for
² did very badly with
³ formed a group to act against me
⁴ spend time together
⁵ criticise strongly
⁶ (only used in continuous) behaving in a way that is sure to create problems for them
⁷ couldn’t ever find, because this person (or thing) is the best of their kind

Formal phrasal verbs

In the first five examples below, the base verb is in itself formal. The base verb here is of Latin rather than Anglo-Saxon origin. In the final three examples it is the specific usage rather than the base verb which is formal.

The authorities finally acceded to his request for a work permit. [agreed to]
We will attend to your request in due course. [deal with]
He ascribes his success to hard work in his youth. [explains]
The presence of the gene may predispose a person to heart disease. [make more likely]
James Hansen is to preside over the government inquiry. [be in charge of]
Some new facts have emerged which bear upon the Smith case. [are connected to]
The castaways had to call upon all their strength to survive. [use]
All her life the Princess had never wanted for anything. [needed]

Dear Mr Janes,
Thank you for your letter of 23 May 2005 going on about the bad service you experienced at this hotel. I promise you we will look into the problem at once and get back to you as soon as possible. We always try to go for the highest standards of service, and if we have failed to live up to those standards we will immediately seek to sort out the situation. Meanwhile we hope you will go on making Miromana Hotels your first choice for all your business and leisure travel.

Yours sincerely,
G. H. Logan (General Manager)

Meaning and metaphor

Multiple meanings

Many phrasal verbs have more than one meaning. Often, the basic meaning relates to some physical action, while other meanings are metaphorical (i.e. they are figurative, not literal). For example, the meanings in the grey boxes below are literal and the others are figurative.

Examples of metaphors based on quick or violent actions

The price of petrol has shot up this year. [gone up rapidly and sharply]

I don't want to just dive into a new job without carefully considering it. [start doing something suddenly and energetically without thinking about it]

The leader of the opposition party has hit out at the government’s new proposals on tax. [strongly criticised, typical of journalism]

My success in the exam spurred me on to study even harder. [spurs are worn on the ankle and are used to make a horse go faster; here the meaning is ‘encouraged me’]

Metaphors and context

The context will usually tell you that a verb is being used in a metaphorical way. Look at these horoscopes. They show phrasal verbs being used metaphorically rather than literally.

Don't just stand by and let others have all the fun. It's time to strike out and do something completely different. Sweep aside all your inhibitions and start living life to the full. It all boils down to whether you are prepared to take control of life or let life control you.

You find it difficult to drag yourself away from domestic responsibilities this month, and you feel sandwiched between your family and your career. All this is eating into your free time. However, soldier on for now because next month will bring an exciting new development which will change everything.

More examples of phrasal verbs used metaphorically

She searched in her handbag and fished out an old photograph.

We wandered round the old market, just drinking in the atmosphere.

He spends hours glued to the TV every evening.

We found this vase when we were just nosing around in a bric-a-brac shop.

People were flooding into the stadium two hours before the concert.
Exercises

7.1 Look at A and B opposite. Read the email and then answer the questions below, using your own words rather than the phrasal verbs in the email.

Hi Bill

Sorry to miss you this morning – the budget meeting ran over and I just couldn’t leave. We had to try to find some ways to cope with the way that our transport costs have shot up over the last few months. Dave was finding fault with all my ideas and I had to stay and try to defend them as best I could. He always takes any opportunity to hit out at me – I don’t know why. Anyway, could we meet later today to run over the agenda for tomorrow’s meeting? My problems today have spurred me on to succeed tomorrow. We mustn’t just dive into our proposal without preparing the ground carefully. It’d be a disaster if the boss just brushed us off after all that work!

Ray

1. When did the budget meeting end?
2. What has happened to transport costs recently?
3. How does Dave usually behave towards Ray?
4. What does Ray want to do with Bill this afternoon regarding tomorrow’s agenda?
5. Has today’s meeting made Ray more or less determined about tomorrow’s meeting?
6. What does Ray not want to do with their proposal at tomorrow’s meeting?
7. What is he afraid that the boss might do to them?

7.2 Rewrite the underlined parts of these sentences, using a phrasal verb from C or D opposite.

1. It’s not good for children to spend too much time just watching TV.
2. Choosing a university course is a matter of deciding what you want to do with your life.
3. I arrived at the stadium early and watched the other spectators entering in large numbers.
4. Laura reluctantly left the window and returned to her desk.
5. Sam was staring at Fiona, listening intently to every word she said.
6. George dismissed all objections to his plan, saying they were unimportant.

7.3 Complete these sentences with a phrasal verb from the opposite page.

1. It is terrible how the world just ............... ............... and lets such terrible things happen!
2. Despite all his difficulties, Douglas does his best to bravely ............... ............... .
3. William reached into his pocket and ............... ............... his passport.
4. When I go to a new town I love ............... ............... the back streets.
5. You mustn’t let your social life ............... ............... your study time.
6. The politician simply ............... ............... the allegations being made against him.
7. When he was 30 Mark left his uncle’s business and ............... ............... on his own.
8. Our little house is ............... ............... a bank and a supermarket.

7.4 Here are some more phrasal verbs which can be used metaphorically. How are their literal and metaphorical meanings connected? Use a dictionary if necessary.

1. I’ve left you some soup which you can warm up when you get home.
   A fantastic singer warmed up the audience before the main programme started.
2. The boy wasn’t looking where he was going and fell into a hole in the ground.
   Kevin fell into his first job as soon as he had left university.
3. The cat got up the tree but didn’t seem able to climb down.
   Paul always wants to win an argument – you'll never get him to climb down.
Idioms using phrasal verbs

Problems at work and home

Hi Milly,

How's your awful new boss? Still planning a total reorganisation of the office or have you persuaded her not to throw the baby out with the bathwater? Let me know if you need an evening out to let off steam – it's about time we met up again.

We've been told at our company that we won't be getting a salary increase this year. They took the sting out of it by giving us a Christmas bonus but people are not happy.

My boss is still as difficult as ever. Her secretary's resigned but I think that might be cutting off her nose to spite her face as she'll find it hard to find anything else as well-paid. She can usually run rings round anyone so it must have been a shock for her to get a boss she couldn't manipulate.

I badly need your advice. Joe's beginning to turn up the heat in our relationship - he's dropping hints about marriage. He invited me to meet his parents last weekend. We got on like a house on fire but I just don't feel ready to put down roots yet. Should I stop seeing him? I don't want to but maybe it'd be kinder? I can't make up my mind. Let me know what you think.

Tara

1 get rid of the good parts of something as well as the bad parts
2 talk or act in a way that helps get rid of strong feelings
3 make something that is unpleasant less so
4 doing something because you are angry though it may cause you more problems
5 outwit, be cleverer than 6 immediately liked each other

Progress meeting

Bruno: Well, Anna, you've been here for a month now and it's time we had a little chat.
Anna: OK. Well, I know I got off on the wrong foot by deleting all last year's client information but I hope you'll agree I've got my act together now?
Bruno: Erm, not exactly. I've tried my best to show you where you're going wrong but I just seem to be going round in circles. Nothing ever seems to get any better. You dig your heels in and don't make any effort to change.
Anna: Oh, I don't think that's fair. I'm sure Geoff would put in a good word for me. I've helped him out with one of his projects.
Bruno: Hmm, well Geoff needs to clean up his act too. If you don't start making up for lost time soon, we're going to have to let you go.
Anna: Oh, no, please. Just give me a bit more authority and I'll come into my own.
Bruno: Oh, Anna. Wake up and smell the coffee! You won't get any more authority unless you pull out all the stops and your work improves significantly.

6 Franck: I think it’s time I made a decision.
   Cindy: Yes, it’s time for you to make up .
New phrasal verbs

Why are more phrasal verbs needed?

Firstly, social change demands new words. For example, developments in technology have given us the phrasal verb top up [pay money onto a top-up card (see below) which you spend when you use your mobile phone] and the expression top-up card [a card you buy for a mobile phone which allows you to make calls up to the value of the card]. Computers have given us scroll up/down [move up or down a computer screen] and copy somebody in [send someone a copy of an email that you are sending to another person]. Trends in the world of work also provide us with new phrasal verbs such as skill up [provide someone with the skills they need to be better at their job, by providing training, for example].

Secondly, phrasal verbs have specific stylistic qualities and for this reason are particularly popular with journalists. They simplify and enliven language in a very flexible way. For instance, it is more interesting to use the expression dumb up [opposite of dumb down] than ‘raise one’s intellectual and cultural values’. For the same reason sex up was an attractive addition to English and, more recently, sex down [make something less exciting].

Finally, young people invent and use new phrasal verbs as a way of making their language different from that of their elders. Phrasal verbs like chill out [relax] and zone out [stop thinking about anything] for example, are strongly associated with young people.

How are new phrasal verbs formed?

New phrasal verbs are formed in a way that allows hearers or readers to understand them. Particles play an important role in making the new meaning immediately clear (see Units 10–16 for more on particles).

Sometimes coining a new phrasal verb is a matter of extending the range of an existing one:

I got bumped/thrown off the Internet after five minutes online. [lost my connection]

If you don’t give Toby what he wants, he’ll kick off. [start making trouble]

The older meanings of bump off [(informal) kill], throw off [get rid of, remove quickly] and kick off [start a football match] are not lost; the new meanings are simply added to them.

It is much more unusual for a new word to provide the basis for a phrasal verb, however it does happen. For example, a new word in the computer domain is phish [fraudulently obtain people’s financial details through dishonest websites — in other words, fish for financial information]. This has led to phish for as in:

He was charged with phishing for credit card information.

Sometimes a familiar word joins a particle to make a new combination and sometimes a new part of speech. For example, the word poodle is familiar as a type of dog but it is now also a phrasal verb – poodle around [wander around in a relaxed way]. Advertisers may talk about their click-through rate [a way of measuring the response to an Internet advert by expressing the number of people who click on an online ad to get to the target site as a percentage of all the people who look at the ad]. Phrasal nouns can also be formed like this; an account of a new TV programme reports that, after the show, the team were so pleased with their performance that they had a ‘sort of mass hug-in’ [everyone embraced each other]. Another example is melt-up [overheating a financial market, causing prices to rise].

Finally, many ‘new’ phrasal verbs come from American English, where they may have existed for many years before becoming standard British English. For example:

Ladies and gentlemen, can you give it up for Mr Tommy McGee! [applaud him].

People get weirded out by my films. [(usually passive) feel uncomfortable or shocked].

a) The company intend to roll out the new version of the software in April 2012.

b) We lucked out and got the last flight out before the hurricane struck.

c) We drilled down into the data and found some very interesting statistics.
Around and about

Around and about are often (but not always) interchangeable in phrasal verbs. A good dictionary will tell you whether they can both be used. The only verbs on this page where both are not possible are marked *.

Basic meaning of around and about in phrasal verbs

Around and about keep a lot of their basic meaning in many phrasal verbs. They often indicate activities and situations taking place in various locations, often without having a clear direction or order.

There were books lying around everywhere in the room.
The children were running about in the garden.

Phrasal verbs with around and about are often informal. Look at this conversation between two teachers.

Sally: Rumours have been flying around the staffroom lately that you’re leaving. Is it true?
Jake: It amazes me how news gets around in this place! I did say to one or two people that I was tired of being bossed around by you-know-who, and, I have asked around* here and there to see if they need any full-time teachers, but I haven’t made a decision yet.

Sally: Oh, right. I heard the other day that you-know-who’s secretary is sick of running around* after him sorting out problems he’s caused. So she might leave too. By the way, do you have a copy of that new grammar book? I want to show it to my students. My copy’s floating about here somewhere but I just can’t find it.

Jake: Yes, I think I have a copy lying around here somewhere … Yes, here you are.
Sally: Thanks very much. So, what are you up to this weekend?
Jake: Nothing much, just pottering about at home, really. Oh goodness! Is that the time? I have a class now.
Sally: Ok, see you later. Don’t forget that we switched our classrooms around this afternoon. You’re in Room 2.

Note that in boss around, around emphasises the fact that the person is frequently being bossed by someone else, not the fact that this occurs in different places.

Other uses of around and about

Here are some other phrasal verbs which use around and about.

Children! Stop playing around! Sit politely. [behaving stupidly]
The neighbours have been banging about next door all morning. I wonder what they’re doing. [making loud noises, for example hammering or moving heavy objects]
Peter was clowning around at the party last night. It got very irritating. [acting in a silly way]
Politicians often skirt around* the truth and don’t give direct answers to questions. [avoid discussing a difficult subject or problem]
It’s a problem, but I’m sure we can work around* it in some way. [organise our activities to ensure that the problem does not prevent us from doing what we want to do]

In

The particle in, when used with phrasal verbs, keeps a lot of its basic meaning, often referring to things which move towards being, or are already, ‘within something’ or are ‘included in something’.

Look at this transcript of a meeting at a computer software company. Gareth, the Chief Executive, who chairs the meeting, speaks first. Note the phrasal verbs with in.

Chair: Well, I think we should begin. One of our colleagues from Manchester has been delayed but I've asked David to show her in when she gets here, so she'll join us later, I hope. Now, first item is the Musicmatch software suite, which, I like to think, has helped to usher in a new era in music production. It's been bringing in good profits, and we've certainly been able to cash in on the recent crash of one of our major rivals, as we all know, but with an economic recession setting in now, we may want to rethink our pricing so that it fits in better with the rest of our range. We also need to factor in the loss of a major client – we lost the Popmaster contract this year.

Hilary: Can I come in here, Gareth? Tim and I are already looking at this and we'll have something to report next week. Basically we hope to build in an automatic upgrade system so that customers will find it easier to stay with us. Tim's looking at the cost. I said I'd pitch in so that we can get it moving faster.

Chair: Okay, well, maybe we can leave that. But I'd just like to say, remember, we need flexibility – we don't want to become boxed in by our own systems. We'll come back to it.

David: Sorry to cut in, Gareth. Mary Peckham is here.

Chair: Ah, good. Our colleague from Manchester has arrived. Hello, Mary. You're very welcome. Can you squash in there somewhere? Sorry the room is a bit small. Mary Peckham, everyone. Some of you know her already. Right, I suggest we move to Rita's presentation. I believe you're going to use the projector, Rita?

Rita: Yes. Could we close those blinds? Thanks. Oh dear, they're still letting a lot of light in. Never mind. I'll begin. I'd like to use this presentation as a lead-in to our general discussion about the future.

1 (formal) begin or cause a period in which new things or changes happen
2 include something when making a calculation or when trying to understand something
3 (informal) help with work that needs to be done
4 restricted
5 something that introduces something else

Take note of the context when you meet new phrasal verbs. For example, the context on this page is a fairly informal business meeting. Spoken business English is often less formal than the spoken language of business in some other languages and cultures. The same is often true for other contexts such as spoken academic language.
Exercises

12.1 Find phrasal verbs or phrasal adjectives from the opposite page which mean the following:

1 benefit from
2 interrupt (two answers)

12.2 Correct the mistakes with the phrasal verbs in these sentences.

1 My new curtains are excellent – they don’t bring any light in.
2 Tina, can you pitch Mr Hill in as soon as he arrives, please?
3 Having the meeting on the 28th would squash in better with our plans than the 30th.
4 Our office in Buenos Aires has cashed in a lot of new business this year.
5 When you are planning the course, make sure you set in enough free time.
6 It’s rude to factor in when someone else is in the middle of speaking.
7 If everyone shows in, we’ll soon get the job done.
8 If I move up, then Rachel should be able to box in at the end of the bench.

12.3 Complete this paragraph with verbs from the opposite page.

My ten-year-old daughter Rosie had some friends to sleep over last night. Eight of them managed to sleep on her bedroom floor. I don’t know how they .......................... (1) themselves in as it is a very small room. Rosie’s birthday had been the previous week, but we had her party yesterday as that .......................... (2) in better with other plans. In the evening we had a barbecue and we made lots of different salads and puddings. Rosie and her friends all .......................... (3) in, and they enjoyed helping as much as eating. Later in the evening rain .......................... (4) in, so they went indoors and watched a DVD. I was afraid the girls would wake up ridiculously early, but we’ve had new blinds fitted and they don’t .......................... (5) any light in, so no one stirred till half past eight.

12.4 Cross out the item which does not normally collocate with the phrasal expression in bold. Use a dictionary if necessary.

1 bring in customers / profits / a loss / business
2 a lead-in to a discussion / a bargain / a lesson
3 a recession / rain / a new product sets in
4 usher in a price increase / a new era / changes

What other phrasal verbs with in do you have in your vocabulary notebook? Do they also have a connection with the basic meaning of in? As you learn other new ones think about how the idea conveyed by in might help you remember the meaning of the phrasal verb.

History File

(ATV Thursday 8.30pm)

An archaeologist notices some strange, pointed stones sticking up from the surface of a lake during a drought. Suspecting they may mark the site of an ancient tomb, she takes infrared photographs from the air. What shows up in the images deepens the mystery. After a long investigation she concludes that theories about the ancient Mosa people no longer stand up.

Nation on the Move

(Globalnews TV Friday 10pm)

Phrasalia, once a country closed to the rest of the world, has opened up since the death of its long-time ruler President Particules. But will the new-found freedoms ultimately lead to the country splitting up into chaotic, rival republics as tensions emerge in its five provinces?

---

We say ‘I went into the garden and picked [some] flowers.’ Don’t say ‘picked up some flowers’; pick up is used for things which are on or have fallen to the ground.

How time passes

Diana: The sales conference will be coming around soon. We’d better start hurrying those sales reports along.

Paul: I can’t believe that the conference is coming up again already. This last year seems to have slipped away!

Diana: I know! There’s an awful lot to do leading up to the conference, especially as it’s going to be held in our branch this year.

Paul: Oh well, at least it breaks things up and makes life a bit more interesting, I suppose. This last year hasn’t been that bad a year, surely. There was all the excitement over the new marketing campaign.

Diana: Oh, that completely passed me by. It didn’t really affect me in my department.

Paul: OK, Paul. Time’s getting on a bit now. I need to head home. Let’s talk about what we need to do tomorrow.

1. (of a regular event) happening at its usual time
2. making someone do something more quickly, making something happen more quickly
3. will be happening soon
4. passed very quickly
5. preparing in the period before an event begins
6. makes a period of time more interesting by being different from what you are doing for the rest of the time
7. went unnoticed
8. (mainly British and Australian informal) it’s getting late

Spending time

Right, I’m not going to spin this out. I just have one thing to say. You only have two weeks now till the exams start and you’re going to have to pull your socks up if you want to pass. We’re going to set apart the next fortnight just for revision. In other words, we’re going to free up some time by cancelling all non-exam lessons like sport. All school sports matches will be held over until the exams are finished. We felt that would be better than trying to fit revision in around sport commitments. The sports staff agree that putting back these matches won’t cause any major problems. We mustn’t set schedules back too much or we won’t be able to fit in all the matches before the end of term. So now, put everything else out of your minds and concentrate on your revision. No more frittering time away – get down to some serious work.

1. make something continue for longer than necessary
2. make an effort to improve, an idiom using a phrasal verb (see Unit 8 for more)
3. use time for one purpose and no other purpose
4. make time or money available for a particular use by not using it another way
5. delayed and arranged for a later date
6. do it between other activities
7. causing something to happen later than it should happen
8. make something happen more slowly, or make something happen later than it should
9. wasting time by using it for unimportant things

The following verbs can be used about money as well as time – free up and fritter away.

4. I thought I had ages to prepare for my exams but they have arrived in no time at all.
5. I think we should try to make the printing paper last as long as possible.
Many of the phrasal verbs in this unit are usually used in quite formal contexts. Using these phrasal verbs will help you to improve your style when writing formal correspondence, giving presentations and writing reports and essays.

Look at these formal letters to the editor of a newspaper and note the phrasal verbs connected with cause and effect.

Dear Sir/Madam,
Recent events in Herean City point to a failure of central government to control spending by local and regional authorities. This failure can be put down to a long-standing reluctance to tackle local corruption, which has resulted in a situation where certain powerful local politicians feel free to act outside the law. This then contributes to a general atmosphere in which all politicians are mistrusted.
Yours sincerely,
G. Johnson (Ms)

Dear Sir/Madam,
Jerome Power’s explanation for the growth of crime in our cities just does not add up. He attributes recent rises in crime to a decline in leisure facilities for young people and the economic recession. But the problem in fact stems from a longer-term neglect of the cities, and dealing with the problem depends upon accepting this fact first and foremost. We have been talking about rising crime rates for decades and after the last general election the government set up an inquiry into inner-city crime but as yet nothing seems to have come out of this enquiry.
Sincerely,
A. H. Lowe

Dear Sir/Madam
No one should be surprised that the recent education reforms have rebounded on the government. The reforms were rooted in a deep-seated elitism, which accounts for the fact that inequality has grown rather than diminished, as your report showed (13 November). As always, the effects have impacted most on poorer families, where the new system has led to parents being unable to afford a good education for their children. It all adds up to more misery in our schools and fewer opportunities for our young people, especially in the inner cities.
Yours sincerely,
D. Mentedd (Prof.)

Always make a note in your notebook if a phrasal verb is formal or informal.

6 What would you say your own interest in English stems from?
7 Do you think that mobile phones have resulted in more or less communication between people?
8 What do you think is the main thing that contributes to the difficulty of phrasal verbs?
Change

For better or worse

MANAGER OF THE MONTH

This month our Manager of the Month is Lewis Keene, who was brought in to turn around Phoenix Sportswear when the company was in serious financial difficulty last year. The main problem was that the quality of our products was going down. I soon realised that we had been sticking to a supplier who was no longer able to meet our requirements. It was not going to be enough to just tinker with the systems in the organisation. I had to be prepared to shake things up completely, said Keene.

As well as changing suppliers, Keene has introduced some drastic changes to the company’s structure and processes and, although at first staff were not happy with many of these changes, it is clear that some of them are now beginning to perk up. 'I know I’ve been putting a lot of pressure on staff,' says Keene, 'but it is the only way to ensure an effective turnaround.' I’ll ease up a bit when we’ve achieved all our targets. Naturally staff weren’t keen on me messing around with their routines, but sometimes it was necessary to improve efficiency.

In this unit, some phrasal verbs can be grouped by the meaning given by the particle. For example, up means uppermost in your mind in summon up, conjure up, call up and stir up. Up in store up memories carries a different meaning in that it means gather or collect. Back in come back, flood back and flashback carries a sense of a returning memory. Behind and out occur with verbs which describe things we don’t want to remember (put something behind somebody, block something out / block out something). Grouping the verbs by the meaning carried by the particle will help you to remember them.

Look at these extracts from the website Our Stories, where people talk about their lives.

‘When I look at these old photographs, memories come flooding back'. This one here, of my mother just before she died, stirs up sad memories of how she suffered but couldn’t afford medication. It reminds me of how different life was then. But we can’t let bad memories eat away at us, we should put bad experiences behind us. I’ve always tried to live in the present and live for the future.’

‘We store up so many memories over the years, good ones and bad ones. I associate this picture with my early childhood. Looking at the photo it suddenly came back to me how we used to feed the animals on my uncle’s farm. It summons up lots of happy memories, and some sad ones, too, like when my favourite old pony died. The happy ones can stick with you forever. I still remember one particular picnic we had one summer when I was only about seven. We tend to block out sad memories, but sometimes you might get a flashback to an unpleasant experience.’

‘For me this picture conjures up a series of crazy events. I got this diploma, then fell down the steps as I left the stage. As I fell, I grabbed the curtain and all the curtains came down on top of me and the professor! Then all the lights went out! It’s amazing how one picture can call up an event in such detail. When I look at it, my thoughts always flash back immediately to that moment.’

Conflict and violence

Particles in phrasal verbs connected with conflict and violence

Some of the phrasal verbs in this unit have the particle up (smash up, flare up) where up suggests extreme or complete. In come at and fly at at indicates the direction of the violent action. Off suggests remove in bump off [(informal), kill] and fight off, and out suggests completely in wipe out [completely destroy]. Thinking about the meaning the particle adds will help you learn the verbs in groups and remember them better.

Talking about conflict and violence

Nick: Why couldn’t you phone for help?
Carole: Vandals had smashed up the phone box and pulled the wires out.

Fatima: What happened to you? Are you hurt?
Alex: A man pushed me over and tried to steal my bag. He came at me from behind.
Fatima: Oh, that’s dreadful! Did he take your bag?
Alex: No, I managed to fight him off, then some people came and he ran off.

Dorota: What did the boss say when you all complained?
Juan: Well, he just flew at1 me and said I was irresponsible, then he rounded on2 the others and ordered them to get back to work. I’ve never seen him flare up3 like that before, you know, he just flew into4 a rage as soon as I opened my mouth.
Dorota: So relations are not good now?
Juan: No. It’s the biggest bust-up5 we’ve ever had with him. But we’re not going to let him push us around6.

1 suddenly spoke to me very angrily
2 suddenly turned and attacked them or shouted at them angrily
3 suddenly become very angry
4 if someone flies into a particular state (e.g. rage, panic), they are suddenly in that state
5 (informal) an angry argument
6 tell someone what to do in a rude or threatening way

Ana: I hear your neighbours have been fighting one another!
Ben: Yes, Joss said Arthur had stolen some plants from his garden, so he set his dog on7 him. Arthur kicked the dog, then punched Joss and almost knocked him out. The police had to come and break it up!

7 attack someone, or make a person or animal attack someone

Jan: What happened at the end of the film?
Katya: Well, they caught the man who’d been bumping everyone off, of course.

Metaphorical uses of phrasal verbs to suggest conflict or violence

The verbs in this group are particularly typical of newspaper language because they have metaphorical meanings, which is good for word play.

The government promised to wipe out poverty. [make it disappear completely]
The Minister is fighting off calls for her resignation.
The police are determined to stamp on football hooliganism. [use forceful methods to get rid of something that you disapprove of]
Some newspapers are trying to drag the Prime Minister into the scandal. [talk about or bring someone or something into a difficult or unpleasant situation, especially when that person or thing is not seen as being connected with the situation]
He published an article in a national newspaper as a way of striking back at his critics. [attacking someone who has attacked you (the literal meaning of striking is hitting)]
Exercises

22.1 Complete these sentences by adding one word to the end of each one.

22.2 Correct the six mistakes with phrasal verbs in this paragraph.

There was a terrible bust-off at work today. The departmental manager came into the office in a terrible temper. He flew on his PA and when people tried to calm him down, he rounded at them. I don't know what had got into him. He pushes everyone over a lot but he's not normally quite so aggressive. I tried not to get dragged onto it, but when it seemed as if he might actually hit someone, then I felt it was time to do what I could to break things out.

22.3 Do the phrasal verbs in these sentences need an object? If so, add an appropriate object in an appropriate place.

1. When I tried to enter the house, the dog flew at.

2. Jack can seem quite happy one moment and then the next he'll flare up.

3. They threatened to bump off if he told anyone about the robbery.

4. Because she had learned some judo as a child, Tina found it much easier to fight off.

5. I was completely taken by surprise when someone suddenly came at from behind.

6. After only ten seconds in the ring, Henry's opponent had knocked out.

22.4 Rewrite these sentences using the word in brackets.

1. Paul tried to involve me in the argument but I managed to stay out of it. (drag)

2. The old man thought the boys were trying to break into his house, so he told his dog to attack them. (set)

3. The aim of the organisation is to completely abolish cruelty to children. (wipe)

4. Although he is small, James is strong and he quickly managed to hit his attacker so hard that he became unconscious. (knock)

5. Uncle Walter can lose his temper very quickly if you say the wrong thing. (flare)

6. The witness saw the thief attack the woman just as she was opening her car door. (come)

7. The government is determined to get rid of smoking in public places. (stamp)

8. The robbers came running out of the bank, knocking down an old lady who was in their path. (push)

9. Older people often find it harder to get rid of colds and other infections than younger people do. (fight)

FOLLOW UP Find a story in a newspaper dealing with conflict or violence in some way. Note down any phrasal verbs that it contains in their context.
Hi Mick,

Thanks for your email.

I've more or less settled in to my new cottage. It's lovely - except for the neighbours. They are just so noisy! I can hear their TV blasting out at all hours of the day and night and one of them plays the trumpet - he's belting out jazz most evenings. At least he plays well, so that noise doesn't grate on me as much as it might! Much worse is the fact that one of them has a very loud voice and is also very bad-tempered. When he's angry he bangs things down and his voice booms out and sometimes the arguments even drown out my own music. I've asked them nicely if they could keep the noise down a bit but they have ignored me. And I thought I was moving to a quiet village where the only loud noise would be church bells pealing out on a Sunday morning!

Hope all goes well with you.

Cheers,

Pat

1 producing a lot of noise, especially loud music
2 (informal) playing a musical instrument or singing very loudly
3 (of sound or behaviour) annoy
4 puts down with force because he is angry
5 makes a very loud noise
6 prevent from being heard
7 ringing loudly (of bells)

Hi Pat,

Interesting to hear about your new flat. I'm attaching an ad for some ear-plugs which claim to help you shut anything out!

I moved into a new flat a month or so ago, too. It's next to the football stadium. I can't see the matches but I can follow what's going on from the sounds I hear. A cheer goes up whenever the home team shoots. But the sound quickly dies down if the ball doesn't go in. Every time there's a match I find myself listening out for the cheers. When I told my girlfriend that I wanted to stay at home to listen to the sounds of a football match she burst out laughing, thinking I was joking, and started talking about how we could decorate the flat. When another cheer went up from the stadium, though, her voice trailed off and she rushed to the window in excitement. Then she stayed in the flat with me and spent all afternoon at the window watching spectators going in and out of the stadium.

Cheers,

Mick

1 prevent a sound from being heard (can also be used about preventing a sight from being seen)
2 if a shout (e.g. cheer, cry, groan) goes up, a lot of people make that noise at the same time
3 becomes less loud or strong and then stops
4 making an effort to hear a noise which you are expecting
5 (of a sound) suddenly started (collocates with laughing, crying, with a comment/remark)
6 gradually became quieter and then stopped

Supporting and opposing people or views

In these television interviews, Members of Parliament (MPs) are defending their positions.

Interviewer: Recently you seem to have come out against those in your party who want stronger anti-terrorist laws. Why?

MP: I haven’t changed my position at all, and I stick by what I’ve always said. Those who side with the terrorists or support them in any way must be opposed. But we need a mature debate about the causes of terrorism.

1 stated publicly that you opposed an issue (opposite: come out in favour of)
2 support a person or group in an argument

Interviewer: You said you were determined to introduce higher fuel charges, but after the opposition from the trucking companies you seem to have caved in. Why?

MP: We are a listening party and we always defer to expert opinion. We were advised that higher charges would have a negative economic effect in the long term, so we have decided to go with that advice.

3 agreed to something that you were against before, because of persuasion or threats
4 (formal) accept someone else’s opinion because they know more or are more important
5 accept a plan or an idea

Interviewer: You seem to be leaning increasingly towards more conservative policies, even though you are a member of the Liberal Party. Is there any truth in the rumour that you are about to cross over to the Conservative Party?

MP: No. The values I stand for are liberal values, but I see no point in siding against the Conservative Party on those issues where I agree with them.

6 support or begin to support a particular set of ideas or a particular political party
7 start to support a different, often opposing, person or group
8 support
9 oppose a person or group in an argument

Note the phrasal verbs for supporting and opposing people or views in these newspaper extracts.

17-year-old boy claims he was egged on by his friends to steal cars.

1 encouraged to do something, often something that is wrong, stupid, or dangerous

Cheered on by her supporters, Jenny Hinds beat the world record.

2 received encouraging shout

Mrs Gilmore, who celebrated her 104th birthday, when asked what her secret was, said she swears by a glass of hot milk with a little sugar every night before bed.

3 believes that something is very effective and that it will always work well

Mr West said the club would not hear of letting children attend the concert.

4 not allow something, or not allow someone to do something (always in the negative)

The peace campaign was buoyed up recently by a donation of €500,000.

5 supported and made more successful

He was someone who always stuck up for the rights of the poor and the homeless.

6 (informal) defended or fought for something important

7 Josh is not usually naughty himself but he is quick to egg others off.
8 The headteacher said she would not hear of pupils coming to school with dyed hair.
Understanding

As a maths teacher I find it interesting to see how children cope with my subject. Some pick up every new topic very quickly while others take rather longer to catch on. Some have to grapple with the topic for a long time but eventually understand it very well. Some find it goes in better if they are presented with the whole picture right from the beginning, whereas others like me to break a topic down into small bite-sized chunks. Then they gradually piece it all together for themselves. Although some find it harder than others to keep up with what I tell them, everyone usually cottons on in the end.

1 (informal) understand
2 try hard to deal with
3 be able to understand something that is happening or changing fast
4 (informal) begins to understand

Discussing ideas

I have some great colleagues. Whenever I have a problem at work, I talk it through with my supervisor. She always comes at problems from a slightly different angle and thrashing an issue out with her helps me to see the problem more clearly and to find a solution. Then there is my marketing team. I am very proud of them. In our regular meetings to discuss new promotional activities, we bounce our ideas off each other until we find something that we all like. We find that batting our ideas around like this is really productive and results in great campaigns.

1 discuss something in order to understand it better
2 approaches
3 discussing something in order to find a solution
4 (informal) tell someone about an idea to find out what they think of it
5 (slightly informal) discussing different ways of dealing with an issue

Student: I’ve been ........................................ (1) with this idea you talked about in your lecture, that written language is becoming more like spoken language these days, but I’m finding it difficult. I’ve been trying to ........................................ (2) out some chapters for my dissertation and I like this topic, but I think I need to ........................................ (3) it through with you first.

Lecturer: Well, let me ........................................ (4) a few ideas off you, see if they make sense. When you write emails to your friends, how formal are they?

Student: Pretty informal usually.

Lecturer: Let’s just ........................................ (5) on that for a moment. What makes them informal?

Student: I suppose it’s grammar for one thing. I use contractions like ‘I’m’ or ‘it’s’ instead of ‘I am’ or ‘it is’. And slang words and so on.

Lecturer: Yes, and hasn’t it ........................................ (6) to you that what you’re doing is sort of talking to people rather than writing to them?

Student: Ah. I see. I think I’ve ........................................ (7) on now. Things like email and text messages and chat rooms and so on are changing the way we write, is that it?

Lecturer: Exactly. Go away and think about it a bit more and I’m sure you’ll ........................................ (8) on a few more ideas. Look at a few newspapers and magazines. Lecturer: Yes, and come back if you need more help and we can ........................................ (11) it out together and try and clarify it more. Okay? Bye.

25.2 Choose the correct particle to complete these sentences.

1 I’ve been trying to think about / up / over a plan for a surprise birthday party for Ben but I haven’t hit on / out / up the right idea yet.
2 I thought about the problem for ages then the solution just leapt over / away / out at me.
3 Some of the trainees are very good at picking on / over / up new techniques, while others take a long time to catch on / across / in.
4 It’s hard to keep up to / with / for all the reading for my literature course.
5 We formed a committee to bat a few ideas over / up / around for the college open day.
6 For a while we played with / on / at the idea of making all the courses compulsory but we dropped it because it would be so unpopular.
7 I think we should try and come into / on / at the problem from a different angle.
8 I tried to explain it to him, but new information takes a long time to go on / in / off sometimes!

25.3 Find phrasal verbs from the opposite page which seem to treat ideas as if they are:

1 balls that can be played with
2 parts of a puzzle
3 things that you need physical strength to deal with

Bob stared at the crossword for ages then the answer suddenly leapt out at him.
Arranging things

A group of students are organising things for a college open day. Note how they use phrasal verbs to talk about arranging things.

Ben: We need something to prop up\(^1\) the camcorder. Maybe we could use that big box?
Anne: Or we could rest it on the bookcase. That could double up as\(^2\) a camera support.

\(^1\) make something stay in a particular position by putting something underneath or against it
\(^2\) also be used as

Tim: Let’s gather up all those brochures and stack them up in one pile over here.
Kim: Okay, then I’ll have to see about\(^3\) an extra table; we’ve got too much stuff.

\(^3\) deal with something, or arrange for something to be done

Raul: We need to space out the tables a bit; they’re too close together at the moment.
Liz: Yes, and we should line them up a bit better too so that it all looks neat.
Paul: Why don’t we separate off\(^4\) all the student work displays and put them all together in the other room?
Jake: Yes, okay. I’ll round up\(^5\) some more helpers; it’s going to be quite a big job.
Paul: Yes, and then separate out\(^6\) the first-year students’ work, the second-year students’ work and the third- and fourth-year students’ work and make a special display of it. That would be nice.
Jake: Okay, but how will I know the first-year stuff from the rest?
Paul: The name and the year are on the back of each piece of work.

\(^4\) remove something from a large group of things
\(^5\) find and gather together a group of people or animals
\(^6\) divide a group of people or things into smaller groups

Kelly: Hey everyone, if you could pile up\(^7\) all your rubbish in the corner there, I’ll get someone to take it all away at once.
Paul: Okay but I think we should sift through\(^8\) everything before we throw it away in case we’re throwing away things we should keep.

\(^7\) examine a large collection of something, especially papers, usually in order to discover something or to decide what is important

Other verbs connected with organising and arranging things

We hoarded away dozens of bottles of water as we knew there would be a shortage in the hot weather. [put a supply of something in a safe place so that you can use it in the future]

¹ (opposite: round down sth / round sth down = reduce to nearest whole number)

Decreasing

Ice cream sales are high in summer but tail off as winter approaches. [decrease in amount]

Since they employed a new chef, the quality of the food has really fallen off. [become smaller or lower]

We’ll never be able to get on a bus now. Let’s wait till the football crowds thin out a bit. [become fewer in number]

Laura was so keen to get rid of her old car that I was able to get her to knock the price down a bit. [(informal) reduce]

I’m afraid we have no choice but to slim the business down and some redundancies will be announced next week. [make it smaller in size, often by employing fewer people]

Staying the same

This year 16-year-old girls have again done much better than boys in their school exams. However, the differences in grades between the sexes now seem to be levelling off¹ by the time pupils reach 18. At 18, boys’ results now average out at 66% per exam, whereas the equivalent figure for girls is 67%. Ten years ago there was concern at the rapidly rising rate of academic success among girls in comparison with boys, but this rate has clearly now flattened out². It is believed that greater use of technology in the classroom might have helped to balance things out³, reviving boys’ interest in their school work.

¹ becoming more similar (can also be level out)
² stopped increasing or decreasing and begun to stay at the same level
³ make things equal

Talking about success and failure

The chief executive of a company is making a speech to the staff at a dinner. Note the phrasal verbs connected with success and failure.

This year has been an eventful one. We’ve been able to capitalise on\(^1\) the publicity we got in the new year with the launch of our new lines, and we’ve come out\(^2\) stronger than ever, despite strong competition. We’ve succeeded\(^3\) in reversing the downward trend we were suffering last year. What’s more, we’ve managed to win back customers from the competition. We had been losing out\(^4\) to international players but now we can pride\(^5\) ourselves on being able to offer better quality products at lower prices. In the middle of the year we faced a hostile takeover bid from Diotecnics. We fought hard against it and finally won\(^6\) through, as I knew we would. That bid fell through\(^7\) and we are now stronger than ever. So I want to thank you all.

Two students are talking on the phone about studying for exams.

Harry: I don’t think I’ll get through\(^1\) the end-of-term exam this time.
Liz: Oh, really? Why?
Harry: Well, I’ve been really busy with the drama club, that’s the problem. I wish I could be one of those people who sail through\(^2\) exams and still manage to pack in\(^3\) a huge amount in their spare time.
Liz: Yes, me too. But never mind, you did your presentation the other day and you managed to carry that off\(^4\) quite well.
Harry: I managed to fool everyone, you mean! I got by\(^5\) only because I found some useful stuff on the Internet the night before.
Liz: Well, that’s okay. That’s what the Internet’s for. As long as you didn’t just copy it!

Other verbs connected with succeeding and failing

I couldn’t really afford the time to go to a lecture on bees but my curiosity won out and I went. [(informal) was stronger than other, competing emotions]

The general lack of enthusiasm doomed the plan to failure. [(made it sure to fail]

The support of my friends and family helped to pull me through a very difficult time. [succeed in dealing with a difficult period of your life, or to help someone else to do this]

You have to learn to rise above negative criticism if you want to succeed. [not allow something bad that is happening or being done to you to upset you or to affect your behaviour]

Did you see the match on Saturday? We’ve fallen behind Liverpool by three points now. [failed to score as many points as another team or player in a competition]

5. We packed in such a lot on our trip to Korea – we saw all the main cities and sights.
6. The college authorities ignored our protests at first but we won through in the end.

28.4 Correct the ten mistakes with phrasal verbs in this paragraph.

Oliver has always wanted to become an engineer but it was quite difficult for him to get a place at college. He didn’t get in at his first attempt, losing off to applicants with better exam grades. However, at his second try he succeeded to win a place. He then sailed over all his first-year exams, but failed some of his exams in the second year, as he started spending a lot of time on the rugby pitch, playing for the college first team, rather than in the library. Then, his team fell back in the college league after three games, so he wasn’t too happy and he did even less work, and as a result he failed three exams. However, he’s always prided himself for being able to revise very efficiently when he’s really under pressure, and in the third year he did enough to pull himself across. His friends were amazed that he managed to carry it out, as they were sure he could not have packed up enough study in such a short time to get by the exams. But Oliver knew that he had only just got over and he resolved to organise his life much better after leaving college.
Discussing problems

Rosie:  How’s life with you, Jean? Is everything going OK?
Jean:  Not really. They’re threatening to make some redundancies at my husband’s work, so that’s hanging over us. All because senior management botched up and lost the company millions of pounds last year! My daughter’s relationship with her boyfriend of five years has broken down because pressures they were both having at work began to spill over into their private lives and they just couldn’t cope. Then, my son, the journalist, was in Phrasalia and got caught up in the revolution there – he ran into difficulties when he was trying to leave and we don’t know when he’ll get home. He even landed in prison for a few days.
Rosie: Oh dear! And how are you bearing up?
Jean: Oh, it’s hard, but I’m OK. But how about you, what’s going on in your life?
Rosie:  It’s quite stressful, too, as we’ve just learnt Bob’s sister is riddled with cancer ...

1 making us worry about what is going to happen
2 (informal) spoiled something by doing it badly
3 failed
4 have an unpleasant effect on another situation
5 involved in an activity or situation which prevented him from moving
6 began to experience
7 found himself in a difficult situation or unpleasant place
8 dealing with a sad or difficult situation
9 full of something unpleasant or bad

Dealing with problems

COPING WITH PROBLEMS

We must all resign ourselves to the fact that we will encounter problems throughout our lives. We cannot safeguard against all unpleasant events. Nor can we walk away from every difficult situation that comes along. We have to find ways of living with the bad situations that we inevitably face from time to time and find ways of ironing out difficulties. We should not be too proud to fall back on our parents for advice – we may be surprised at how helpful they can be. If the problem is a disagreement, then we may be able to smooth things over. Explaining how we feel will sometimes be all that is needed to clear up a misunderstanding. If we have behaved badly, then we should apologise and find a way to make up for our actions. The important thing is not to resort to behaviour that we know is wrong even if it seems to offer a temporary solution. Don’t just grasp at the first chance of an easy way out – it may not be the right thing to do.

1 accept that something we do want to happen will happen
2 do things to stop something unpleasant happening
3 stop being involved in a situation that is difficult to deal with 4 accepting a difficult situation and continuing with our life while it exists
5 doing something to resolve a problem
6 use something when other things have failed, or when there are no other choices
7 make a disagreement or problem seem less serious or easier to deal with, especially by talking to the people involved in it
8 give or find an explanation for, or deal with, a problem or disagreement
9 do something good so that the bad thing seems less important and does not cause a problem any more
10 do something that you do not really want to do because you cannot find any other way of achieving something
11 quickly use or accept an opportunity to do or have something, especially because you are unhappy with the present situation
Exercises

29.1 Complete these emails between Liz and Sharon using phrasal verbs from the opposite page.

Hi Sharon,

Life's never easy, is it? I've had a big misunderstanding with my colleague Peter and I want to (1) it up but I'm not sure how. It's been (2) over me for a week now, and I don't want relations to (3) down between me and him as I have to meet with him once a week. He thinks I told people he took time off when he wasn't really sick and as a result he (4) in trouble with the boss. All I had said was I was glad to hear it wasn't anything serious. What should I do? Advice greatly appreciated!

Liz

Dear Liz,

Well, you're right not to try to (5) away from the situation. It's bound to (6) over into your professional dealings with him. It sounds like you've got (7) up in some malicious office gossip. Invite him out to lunch, explain, and apologise for causing him any problems. That should (8) things over a bit. Tell him what a wonderful colleague he is. At moments like this you have to (9) to flattery! It's usually the only way to (10) up for saying or doing something you wish you hadn't. Most people can't resist being flattered!

Hope that helps.

Love,

Sharon

29.2 Rewrite the underlined parts of these sentences, using a phrasal verb from the opposite page. Make any other necessary changes.

1 When the doctors examined the dead man, they found his body was (full of) disease.
2 I just (quickly accepted) the first opportunity to get out of my boring job and do something more exciting. I wasn't prepared to just (continue to accept) it; I had to make a change.
3 I was (forced to use) my knowledge of map reading from my days as a boy scout to help us find a way out of the valley.
4 I'm sorry, I've (done things the wrong way) and caused a lot of problems for everyone.
5 A healthy diet and plenty of exercise is the best way to (protect yourself from) heart disease.
6 Her life is difficult. Her husband died. Now she just has to be (brave and determined) and try to carry on as best she can.
7 I'm afraid we just have to (reluctantly accept) the fact that we are going to have to sell the house.
8 She tried very hard to (resolve) the misunderstandings between the two groups.

English Phrasal Verbs in Use Advanced 63
Deciding and influencing

Horoscopes are often about making decisions and influencing people and events.

LEO
July 23 – August 22
Time to decide on that interesting offer you had last week. You've mulled it over, but now you need to say yes or no. Just be careful not to tie yourself down to something you may regret later.

1. thought carefully about something for a long time
2. stop yourself from being free to do what you want to do

CAPRICORN
December 22 – January 19
Changes are being pushed through at work which may result in somebody doing you out of a promotion you deserve. You find yourself in a difficult position with a colleague you are fond of, as your boss tries to play you off against each other. Be patient. Later in the month another senior person will single you out for praise for something you did recently.

3. considering or being interested in something but not very seriously
4. carefully examine a situation or person in order to make a judgement

5. made officially accepted
6. (informal) stopping you from getting or keeping something, in a dishonest or unfair way
7. encourage you to compete against or argue with another, hoping to get some advantage from this situation
8. choose one person or thing from a large group usually in order to criticise or praise them

PISCES
February 19 – March 20
You have a disagreement with a good friend about some plans you've made together. You try your best, but it's impossible to reason with some people. Don't let them play on your good nature, if it's important to you, don't give in. You'll work things out in the end.

9. use your fears or weaknesses in order to make you do what they want, often in a way that is unfair
10. think carefully about how you are going to do something and make a plan or decision

In these dialogues the second speaker uses a phrasal verb to paraphrase what the first speaker says.

Dennis: I might say no to the Berlin trip and go to Moscow instead, but I'm not sure.
Kim: So you're tending towards the Moscow trip? I thought you might.

Lucy: I think I now agree with you that we should postpone the new product launch.
Jeff: Ah-ha! So you've finally come round to my way of thinking.

Peter: That's it. I've decided. I'm going to take the job in Madrid.
Father: Good! I'm glad you've arrived at a decision at last. You won't regret it.

Dan: So who's going to have the extra ticket? I've got a coin, if you like.
Mick: OK, let's toss for it. 'Heads' – you get it, 'tails' – I get it.

1. throw a coin into the air to see which side lands facing upwards. For British coins, 'heads' means the side with the Queen's head on it; 'tails' is the other side.

Sylvia: We need to encourage people to join the campaign and work with us.
Lenny: Yes, we need to drum up more support.

TIP
Do sb out of sth is not the only informal phrasal verb with do. We also find it in do in sb [kill], do out sth [decorate], do yourself up [make yourself look more attractive] and do without [manage without something]. Where verbs form groups like this, record them together.

Read these statements by different people talking about their jobs.

The boss

I’ll be retiring next year. I already find that I can farm out tasks I used to do myself. I’m slowly easing off now so that I can step aside next year knowing I’ve left everything in good hands.

1. give work to other people instead of doing it yourself
2. starting to work less or do things with less energy
3. leave a job or position, especially so that someone else can do it

We never like to call people out on strike, but when we do, we have to be determined to see it through to the end. We have to keep talking constructively and try not to get bogged down in lengthy negotiations which only prolong the strike.

4. order workers to strike
5. continue doing a job until it is finished, especially when it is difficult
6. (informal) become so involved in the details of something that you cannot achieve anything

The union representative

My job is monotonous. I just slog away day after day. People like me get passed over for promotion, so we’re not motivated. I often feel like packing this job in and finding something else. One day I’ll just hand in my notice and go.

7. (informal) keep working very hard, usually for a long time
8. are not given a higher position because it is given to someone else
9. (informal) stopping doing something, especially a job

In this job you just have to fling yourself into your work and beaver away to get things done each day. I spend a lot of time running round helping other people. It’s not a bad job, and some days I can get off early if the boss isn’t around.

10. start to spend a lot of your time and energy doing something
11. (informal) work hard at something for a long time, especially something you are writing
12. leave the place where you work, usually at the end of the day

The assembly-line worker

I decided to go in for research, as I wanted to do something exciting. I don’t think I’m cut out for teaching. University was fun, but now I’ve got to knuckle down and build my career.

13. have the right qualities for something, especially a job
14. start to work or study hard, especially if you have not been working very hard before (see also buckle down, Unit 33)

The secretary

Well, in this job you just plug away and hope the day will pass quickly. If I have to write a report, I do what I can to cobble something together but I don’t ever feel that I achieve anything worthwhile. Most people in my position just coast along and dream of the summer holidays.

15. (informal) work hard at something for a long time
16. make something quickly and not very carefully
17. do only the things that you have to do without trying to go faster or be more successful

7 There comes a time when it is best for an older manager to withdraw and let a younger person take over. (step)
8 I always say that if you start a job, you should make sure you finish it. (see)

32.3 Correct the six mistakes with particles in this paragraph.
I'd hate a job where I could just coast about without needing to think about what I was doing. I’d far rather keep busy and really don’t mind how much I have to slog off each day. I’d soon pack off any job that didn’t keep me working hard. I fling myself onto everything I do. Even when I was at school, I used to beaver up at my homework as soon as I got home from school. My brothers certainly never used to knuckle into work in the way I did.

32.4 Complete these sentences using verbs from the box and the correct particles. Put the verbs in the correct form and make any other necessary changes.

Going through college

Sam and Ben are twin brothers. They have a very rich grandfather who offered to put them through\(^1\) university. Sam sailed through\(^2\) his exams at school and easily got into\(^3\) a good university. Ben wanted to go to the same university, but it was harder for him to get in. However, in his last few months at school, he buckled down\(^4\) to his studies and managed to get through\(^5\) all the necessary exams. Both brothers wanted to major in\(^6\) law. Sam had worked in a law firm in several summer holidays and this experience was able to count towards\(^7\) his degree. Ben spent his holidays playing sport. Sam continued to study hard and soon left most of the other students in his group behind\(^8\). At the end of six months the professor creamed off\(^9\) the best students and moved them up to the next class. Sam was in this group but Ben was not. The professor felt he was more interested in rugby than law and this counted against\(^10\) him. He was marked down\(^11\) for careless mistakes in a number of his essays and by the end of the year he had fallen behind\(^12\) the rest of his year. His tutor says he'll be lucky if he even scraps through\(^13\) his exams. His grandfather has arranged to come and visit him and Ben is feeling a little nervous.

1. pay for them to study at university
2. easily passed
3. succeeded in getting a place (at a school, college, or organisation)
4. started working hard
5. succeed (in an examination or competition)
6. (US, Aus) study something as their main subject at university
7. be part of what was needed in order to complete something
8. made much faster progress than others
9. separated the cleverest or most skilful people from a group and treated them differently
10. contributed to his bad marks
11. given a lower mark
12. failed to remain level with a group of people that was moving forwards
13. (informal) passes but only just

In the library

Let me try to describe this scene in a university library. A girl with long hair is poring over\(^1\) a map. Next to her a boy is skimming through\(^2\) some books, looking for some information on wind energy for his thesis. At the same table is a girl with short hair, who has buried herself in\(^3\) a journal. Next to her a boy is checking off\(^4\) names on a list – he’s crossed off\(^5\) one of them. There is a busy and studious atmosphere in this library and I hope this has come across\(^6\) in my description.

1. studying carefully
2. reading quickly without studying the details
3. given all her attention to
4. writing something next to each item on a list in order to make sure that everything or everyone on it is correct, present, or has been dealt with
5. removed a word (e.g. name) from a list by drawing a line through it
6. been expressed clearly enough for the reader to understand it
Exercises

33.1 Match each sentence on the left with a sentence which follows logically on the right.

1 He took three weeks off in the middle of term. a) He buckled down to his studies.
2 He didn't read the book thoroughly. b) He got through all the exams.
3 He searched the manuscript carefully. c) He was marked down.
4 He decided he had wasted far too much time. d) He just skimmed through it.
5 He was very successful at college. e) He fell behind with his work.
6 He didn't keep to the set topic for his essay. f) He pored over it for hours.

33.2 Complete these sentences using the correct particles.

1 It cost Rick and Nina a huge amount of money to put three children ................. college.
2 Vlad sailed ................. all his exams at school but found things much harder at university and only scraped ................. his final accountancy exams.
3 I'm afraid you'll have to cross my name ................. the list for the trip next Saturday.
4 The college basketball team always seems to cream the best athletes and other sports suffer as a result.
5 She was so brilliant, she left all the other students ................. .
6 The end-of-semester marks in each year all count ................. your final degree.
7 I like Professor Watson's lectures; they're so clear. His ideas don't come ................. nearly as well in his books.
8 He was on the borderline between pass and fail, but his poor attendance on the course counted ................. him and they failed him in the end.

33.3 Rewrite each sentence using a phrasal verb based on the word in brackets.

1 As each person arrived she asked their name and put a tick on her list. (CHECK)
2 She picked up her favourite novel and became completely absorbed in it. (BURY)
3 He decided to take economics as the main subject for his degree. (MAJOR)
4 His tutor transferred him to a higher class. (MOVE)
5 What sort of grades do you need to be given a university place in your country? (GET)
6 I applied to Oxford University but I wasn't accepted. (GET)

33.4 Make suitable questions which could come before these answers. Use a dictionary if necessary.

1 I'd like to go on to university.
2 I just wanted to take up a new subject; that's why I gave it up.
3 No, she dropped out at the end of the first year.
4 I can't – I'm snowed under. I've got two essays to do for tomorrow.

33.5 Answer these questions about your own experience of study.

1 At school did you usually sail through or scrape through your exams?
2 How soon before an exam do/did you usually buckle down to work?
3 Do you think a teacher has ever marked down your work unfairly?
4 What other things apart from exam results can count towards getting into a good university in your country?
This unit contains phrasal verbs which are all suitable for use in formal essays.

Read Sally’s notes for an essay she is going to write on the subject of ‘Globalisation’. Her notes contain useful phrasal verbs for essay-writing.

Plan:

Devote a paragraph each to opposing arguments

Mention how globalisation often deprives workers of their rights

But also mention how poorer countries can profit from global markets

Relate globalisation to other changes (mobility, Internet, etc.)

Refer to recent international gatherings (G8 etc.)

Cater for non-technical readers as well as specialists

What best sums up\(^1\) the present situation – give examples/quotes

Things to remember!

Aim at being neutral

Base opinions on sound evidence

Don’t let irrelevant details detract from\(^2\) the main argument

\(^1\) represents the most typical qualities of something (Note that this is the only verb on this page where the particle can come either before or after the object.)

\(^2\) make something seem less good than it really is or than it was thought to be

Look at these extracts from essays where phrasal verbs have been used successfully, helping to create a good written style.

Furthermore, it is a quiet village and basically consists of families with very young children.

Democracy is founded on the ideal of equality for all citizens. [(always passive) based on a particular idea or belief]

The people have many difficulties to contend with: poor soil, inadequate roads and lack of investment. [have to deal with a difficult or unpleasant situation]

Government economic policies have resulted in an improved standard of living in the region.

We need to find ways to improve upon the current system of distribution of goods. [do something in a better way or with better results than when it was done before]

Efforts to interest young people in the political process often fail. We need to invest more thought in finding ways of involving young people in politics.

Many people object to their leaders treating them as if they were not capable of running their own lives. (Note the -ing form of the verb after object to)

The university has always insisted upon a high standard of teaching and research.

With the verbs base on, found on, improve on and insist on, the particle upon can be used in place of on and is a good choice in a formal essay.
Exercises

Hi Ralph,

I'm just settling in\(^1\) to the new house now and beginning to enjoy it. There were so many things that needed doing in the first few days. I had to chuck away\(^2\) some old bits of furniture that belonged to the previous owner, put up\(^3\) my bookshelves in the study, smarten up\(^4\) the living room with a coat of white paint, wash down\(^5\) the kitchen walls and units, put away all the kitchen things that were still in boxes, mop up\(^6\) a pool of oil in the garage, stop up\(^6\) a suspicious-looking hole that could have been a mouse hole (aargh!) and put all the empty boxes out\(^7\) in the rubbish. I thought I'd never finish! As I'm writing this I've got the TV on and there's one of those home-improvement programmes on. Oh no, I can't take any more! Once I've got the place straightened up\(^8\), I'll invite you over for a meal.

Love,

Kirsten

Dressing for a party

Edwina is telling Fran about a party she went to.

Edwina: Some of the girls had really dolled themselves up\(^1\), and some of them were in such strange getups\(^2\) it looked as if they thought it was a fancy-dress party!

Fran: (laughs) What did you wear?

Edwina: Well, to tell you the truth, it wasn’t easy. I wanted to wear my little black dress but I had trouble getting into\(^3\) it. I think I’ve put on a bit of weight. I’ll have to get my mum to let it out\(^4\), or else lose some weight! When I’d finally squeezed into it, I looked so awful in the mirror I just took it off again, pulled on\(^5\) a boring old sweater and got out my old navy suit.

Fran: Oh, I like that suit.

Edwina: Well, so do I, but the jacket was all creased and I didn’t have time to iron it, so I just smoothed it down\(^6\) with my hands and hoped for the best. I was so late by this time, I didn’t realise till I got to the party that I had the wrong shoes on. I must have looked as if I was wearing cast-offs\(^7\)! But it didn’t really matter because when the music started, we all flung our shoes off\(^8\) to dance anyway.

Fran: (laughs) No, you always look nice whatever you’re wearing.

Edwina: Oh, you’re so sweet!

Relationships

Getting to know someone

Tamara: You and Lee have been going out together for ages now, haven’t you?
Isabelle: Yes, we have. Longer than I’d ever have imagined when we first met.
Tamara: Why, didn’t you like him much at first?
Isabelle: No, I warned to him at once – it was just the odd way we met.
Tamara: Oh, how was that? At a club or at work?
Isabelle: No, we got stuck together in a lift that broke down. That’s what brought us together! We were the only people there and we were there for nearly an hour, so we soon struck up a conversation. We discovered we’d got a mutual friend – Jenny Gordon. You know her, don’t you?
Tamara: I know of her. I’ve heard of her because my brother used to talk about her a lot, but I’ve never actually met her. She went to work in Australia, didn’t she?
Isabelle: That’s right. Lee had just heard from her, so he told me all her news and then we got on to all sorts of other things. Anyway, I thought he was really nice.
Tamara: So, you flirted with him, no doubt!
Isabelle: Just a little, perhaps. Anyway, by the time they’d repaired the lift he’d asked me to go out with him. And that was six months ago!

1 having a romantic relationship
2 started to like
3 caused us to be friendly with each other
4 started (collocates with conversation, friendship)
5 have heard of her but don’t know her personally
6 know a little about her because of being told about her
7 talked and behaved in a way which shows someone that you are sexually attracted to them

Relationship problems

Ask the readers

Let our readers help with your relationship problems. Here are this week’s letters.
We’ll publish some of your answers next week.

I really like a boy in my English class. I’d love to ask him to come out with me, but should I wait for him to make the first move? – Anna, London

I am worried about my partner. He got mixed up with some untrustworthy people when he started a new job six months ago. Should I say anything to him? – Bea, Dundee

I have been happily married for ten years. However, lately, my husband has been getting more and more distant with me. I now suspect he may be cheating on me. What should I do? – Melanie, Belfast

A few weeks ago I told my daughter-in-law that she fusses too much over her children. I didn’t mean to upset her, just to help. But it has caused a major bust-up in our relationship and it’s come between me and my son as well. How can I patch things up? – Carla, Glasgow

My best friend is always sucking up to our lecturer. I think she’s trying to butter him up so she gets better grades. It’s annoying and unfair. Should I say anything? – Di, Cardiff

1 (informal) having a sexual relationship with someone else
2 pays too much attention to
3 (informal) break (in a relationship)
4 spoil the relationship
5 improve the situation
6 (informal) trying to make the lecturer like her by doing and saying things that will please him

   Alex: No, but I know a bit about her from what one or two people have told me.

2. Robert: I was surprised to hear Nick and Kirsten have got engaged.
   Anna: I wasn’t. They’ve been having a romantic relationship for two years.

3. Max: Did you see Tim talking to that American girl at the party?
   Will: Yeah, he was chatting to her and behaving in a way which showed he was attracted to her all evening.

4. Jane: Did you have any success getting to know that dark-haired guy?
   Fiona: No. I tried to start a conversation with him, but he wasn’t very friendly.

5. Derek: You seem to like the new boss, anyway.
   Freda: Yes, I started to like him straight away in fact. He’s very nice.

6. Sara: Did you and Liam first meet at the tennis club?
   Diane: Yes, you could say it was tennis that caused us to be friendly with each other.

FOLLOW UP Try and find some job advertisements in English. Job descriptions often refer to personal qualities needed for the job. Note any phrasal verbs you find.
Feelings

Horoscopes often contain verbs connected with feelings. Here are some Chinese ones.

Tiger
Some days it's hard to summon up\(^1\) the energy to get out of bed in the morning. Perhaps you've finally gone off\(^2\) your job, or maybe there's someone at work you don't care for\(^3\). But persist, keep going and things will change for the better before the week is out.

Rabbit
Someone has got something against\(^4\) you. You're not sure what it is, but you sense they're trying to turn other people against\(^5\) you too. But you shouldn't work yourself into\(^6\) a state about it. Stay calm and confront the person who's causing the problem; it's the only way to resolve the situation.

Dragon
You feel a bit low, but you have to snap out of\(^7\) it. Why not enjoy some special treat you've been promising yourself for ages? You'll soon perk up\(^8\). Secretly you're hankering after\(^9\) a change in your career, but now is not the right time.

Snake
You are usually brimming with\(^10\) enthusiasm for everything; however, this week things could get difficult. Don't give in to\(^11\) negative impulses and keep smiling; things will get better.

1 find (used about someone trying hard to find a quality that is needed)
2 (UK, Aus) stopped liking
3 don't like
4 dislikes for some reason
5 make others dislike
6 make yourself feel very upset
7 (informal) force yourself to stop feeling sad and upset
8 become happier or more energetic
9 wanting very much
10 showing a lot of a good emotion
11 if you give in to an emotion, you stop trying not to feel it and you allow your actions to be controlled by that emotion

---

Note how the second speaker uses a phrasal verb to paraphrase the first.

Erica: Tessa was very angry. She was almost crying.
Julian: Yes, it was obvious she was choking back\(^1\) her anger and fighting back\(^2\) the tears.

Will: Karl looked so surprised when he received his leaving gift, didn't he?
Paula: Yes, I think he was bowled over by everyone's generosity.

Zara: Vanessa suddenly started talking uncontrollably about her emotions.
Luke: Yes, she let it all spill out, didn't she?

Elaine: You didn't look physically and mentally able to tolerate such a long meeting.
Rose: No, I wasn't feeling up to it. I'd had a cold and was feeling tired and weak.

Aisha: I really feel sorry for Geoff with all the illness he's had lately.
Natalie: Yes, poor man. My sympathies go out to him.

Rob: I think the news shocked Joanna and really upset her.
Sheila: Yes, it obviously shook her up a lot.

Fran: As I stood at the War Memorial, I suddenly felt very sad.
Lena: Yes, a feeling of sadness came over everyone, I think.

Emma: We should stay calm and not do or say anything stupid.
Jack: Yes, we mustn't let our emotions run away with us.

Social life

Social and emotional commitments

Hi Howard,
What did you get up to* at the weekend, anything exciting? We had quite a nice weekend here. It was my mum’s birthday, so my sister and I treated her to* a night out. We took her out for dinner on Saturday, then we went on to a jazz club because she’s a great jazz fan.
Zenab

1 (informal) do
2 paid for her to do something pleasant

Hi Zenab,
Glad to hear you had a nice weekend. I did too. I was passing by* an old friend’s place on Sunday, so I called in on* him. Luckily he was at home. We didn’t do anything special, just hung out* and chatted.
Howard

3 visited for a short time, usually on your way
4 spent time together not doing anything special to somewhere else

Hi Jane,
I’ve had another big letdown* in my love life. The day after we had that terrible row last week, Kenneth dropped by* and offered to take me out for a meal. I thought that would be a chance for us to forget it, you know, and move on*7. I should have refused, but I said yes, then he blew me out*8 again. He phoned afterwards and said sorry and now he’s all romantic again and suggesting we meet. I should say no, and I know what you’re going to say – it’s your fault, deal with it.
Alex

5 disappointment
6 made a short visit to someone, usually without arranging it
7 go forward in one’s life and not look back to the past
8 (informal) disappointed someone by not doing something that had been arranged

Health and symptoms

Talking about how you are

Mrs Smith: How are you these days? Have you managed to throw off that cold you had when we last met?

Mr Jones: Well, yes, it cleared up after a couple of days, but I'd no sooner got over that than I picked up another one. It's horrible. My nose is completely bunged-up. And I keep breaking out in a sweat.

Mrs Smith: Well, I hope you don't pass it on to me. I'm feeling bad enough as it is. My arthritis has flared up again. And you know I fell and cut my hand a week ago? It's only just started to heal over and the swelling hasn't gone down yet.

Mr Jones: I think we should both go to the doctor's again, don't you?

Feeling tired

There are a lot of phrasal verbs in English relating to the idea of sleep and feeling tired. For example, drop off and nod off are both informal and both mean fall asleep, but nod off is used particularly about situations when you did not intend to fall asleep.

Here are some more phrasal verbs relating to being very tired.

At the doctor's

Don't worry. There's a lot of it going around. I'll put you on some tablets to help you sleep. They should knock you out.

Keep taking them for at least a fortnight – you shouldn't come off them until I say so. This particular bug takes a lot out of you, so when you begin to feel better, make sure you eat lots of fruit and vegetables to build yourself up.

1 a lot of people are complaining of this
2 make you sleep heavily
3 makes you feel very weak
4 make yourself stronger
Exercises

43.1 Rewrite the underlined parts of these sentences, using a phrasal verb or phrasal expression from the opposite page. Make any other necessary changes.

1 Doctor: So, how can I help you today?
   Patient: I think I've caught a chest infection. I'm coughing and wheezing a lot.

2 Doctor: When did you first notice the problem?
   Patient: Well, a rash suddenly appeared on my neck about a week ago.

3 Doctor: And what's troubling you, Mrs James?
   Patient: Well, I had an ear infection about a month ago. It seemed to disappear when I took the antibiotics you gave me but now it's returned again.

4 Doctor: Mr Kelly, hello, how are things?
   Patient: Well, okay, but my nose is blocked all the time. Can you give me something for it?

5 Doctor: Miss Peters, what can I do for you?
   Patient: Well, I sprained my ankle a week ago and the swelling just hasn't diminished and it's still painful.

6 Doctor: Right, Mr Troy, what's troubling you?
   Patient: Well, Doctor, I just seem to feel absolutely exhausted all the time. I simply have no energy to do anything.

43.2 Read the remarks about different people and then answer the questions below.

Janice: I just can't seem to throw off this cold.

Exercises

44.1 Look at A. Match the beginning of each sentence with its ending.

1. If you all huddle up together
   a) the horse will take the carrot from your hand.
2. If you stretch out your arm
   b) you'll be able to see our car.
3. Spread out your arms
   c) and go to sleep if you like.
4. Now bend down
   d) you'll feel a bit warmer.
5. If you stick your head out of the window
   e) and move them in circles.
6. You can curl up in the armchair
   f) and touch your toes.

44.2 Answer these questions using one of the phrasal verbs from B.

1. What do you normally need to do before starting on an exercise routine?
2. If you suddenly go from a dark place into very bright sunlight, what do you do?
3. If you have been outside for a long time on a very cold day, what may it take you some time to do when you go indoors again?
4. What do you have to do if you fall over?
5. What do you do if you hear a sudden noise behind you?
6. What happens to your muscles if you are feeling very anxious?
7. What happens if someone doesn't eat enough over a long period of time?
8. If you suddenly have an excruciating pain, what may you do?

44.3 Correct the six particle mistakes in this paragraph.

I'm rather worried about my neighbour. I saw her the other day in the garden and she was doubled out in pain. She also looks as if she is wasting off. I asked her about it and she said she was just trying to lose some weight, but she clearly didn't like my talking about it and I could see her tensing in. I think she's probably been doing far too much exercise. She spends hours outside bending away to touch the ground or spreading off her arms and swinging them in circles. I can see that she's screwing in her face in pain and I long to tell her to relax a bit.

44.4 Rewrite each sentence using the verb in brackets in an appropriate form.

1. You must be freezing - do come inside and get warm. (thaw)
2. Look at me - now face in the opposite direction. (turn)
3. The little girl was lying in a little ball on her bed with her thumb in her mouth. (curl)
4. When the teacher turned his back, the boy put his tongue out at him. (stick)
5. If you don't eat more, you'll get far too skinny. (waste)
6. The stand-up comic was so good that we spent the evening in fits of laughter. (double)

44.5 Explain the play on words in these sentences.

1. The twins doubled up laughing.
2. The carpenter screwed his face up as the job was very difficult.
3. The grammar teacher tensed up when Maria said 'writed' instead of 'wrote'.
4. The taxi driver picked himself up after he tripped over the suitcase.
How people speak

In these dialogues, the second speaker uses a phrasal verb in their response.

Parent: Go and study! You haven't done anything this week! Did you hear me? I said study!
Child: Okay, okay! Don’t go on at me! I’ll do it later.

1 criticise someone continuously

Jim: Can you explain to me what we have to do at the meeting?
Paul: Okay, I'll just run through 2 the main points.

2 explain or read something to someone quickly

Russ: How long do you need for your presentation? You can have two hours.
Jane: Two hours sounds far too long! I don’t think I’d want to listen to someone holding forth 3 for that long. It’d bore everyone stupid.

3 talk about a particular subject for a long time, often in a way that other people find boring

Archie: How do you think we should present our case to the committee?
Iris: I think we should emphasise the good things and perhaps just gloss over 4 the difficult bits.

4 avoid discussing something, or discuss something without talking about the details in order to make it seem unimportant

Morris: How can we distract Richard while I bring in his present?
Ruth: Well, I’ll engage him in 5 conversation and you can leave the room discreetly.

5 try to start a conversation with him

Look at these sentences with more phrasal verbs connected with speaking.

Mr Holroyd reeled off a list of names. [(informal) said a long list of things quickly and without stopping]
The detectives tried to wring the truth out of the suspect. [force or persuade someone to give you money or information]
The reporters bombarded the minister with questions. [directed a lot of something at one person]

Somebody raised their hand to put a question to the speaker.
I didn’t really have a conversation with her. She just talked at me for an hour. [talked to someone without listening to them or allowing them to speak]

Without thinking, he blurted out the name of the hotel where the star was staying. [said something suddenly and without thinking, especially because you are excited or nervous]

I’ll introduce the plan in general and then you can expand on it.

In the middle of my welcome speech I just dried up. [stopped speaking, especially because you suddenly forget what to say next]

The teacher kept asking him questions but he was nervous and he just clammed up. [(informal) became silent or refused to speak, usually because of shyness or fear]

I’d like to get a flat of my own but I’ll have to sound my parents out first. [talk to someone to discover what they think about an idea or plan]

We were talking about the Olympics and that led into a discussion about drugs.

Are you going to tell the truth or do I have to drag it out of you? [make someone tell you something that they do not want to tell you]
Exercises

45.1 Rewrite the underlined part of each sentence, using one of the phrasal verbs in A.
1 It's so boring listening to Uncle Bill lecturing us about the morals of young people today.
2 I'll try to get into a conversation with your father so he won't notice you leaving.
3 I wish my parents would stop criticising me all the time.
4 OK, before everyone starts working, I'd like to quickly remind you of the instructions.
5 The personnel manager said very little about salary progression during our interview.

45.2 Read the sentences and then answer the questions.
1 After Sue got back from the party, her flatmates bombarded her with questions.
   Did Sue's flatmates ask her a lot of questions or a few questions?
2 Towards the end of the play one of the main actors suddenly dried up.
   Would the actor have been pleased with his performance or not?
3 Nathan reeled off the names of all 50 states of the USA.
   Did Nathan have to pause and think of the name of each state?
4 Jackie clammed up as soon as Brian came in the room.
   Did Jackie speak more or less after Brian arrived?
5 The detective eventually managed to wring her attacker's name out of the girl.
   How easy was it for the detective to get the girl to tell her the truth?
6 Matt decided to sound out the editor before he started to write the article.
   What do you think Matt talked to the editor about?
7 Terry has a dreadful habit of talking at people.
   Why is this habit of Terry's dreadful?
8 Frances glossed over the accident when she was telling her parents about her trip.
   What did Frances tell her parents about the accident?

45.3 Complete these sentences, using a phrasal verb from the opposite page.
1 Now, who'd like to ______________ the first question to our guest speaker?
2 In this essay I shall first outline three key issues. I shall then expand ______________ each of these in turn.
3 Our discussion of modern education soon ______________ into an argument about whether schools are better now than they used to be.
4 I'd love to join your expedition to the North Pole but I should ______________ my wife out first.
5 My son doesn't tell us much about school. We have to drag things ______________ of him.

7 Veronica just ______________ up whenever I tried to get her to talk about her work.
8 During the press conference, she was nervous, and unintentionally ______________ out the name of the secret agent.

45.4 Here are some more phrasal verbs connected with ways of speaking. Can you work out what they mean and rewrite the sentences replacing the underlined verbs with your own words?
1 Jim was so rude — he cut in on the conversation I was having with Susan about her new job and started to ask her questions about her son.
2 I don't know how you'll manage to explain away the scratch on your father's car.
3 I wish he'd stop wittering on about the weather — it's so boring.

Look up the verbs from 45.4 in a good dictionary. Write down some more examples of how they are used.
How people move

Coming and going
The little boy stole away while his parents were sleeping. [left quietly without anyone knowing]

I'm sorry! I only crept up on you for a joke. I didn't mean to frighten you. [approached someone so quietly they did not know you were there till the last moment]

My landlord told us that if we didn't clear out by the end of the week, he'd contact his lawyer. [(informal) leave]

I'm terribly sorry for walking in on you in the shower! [going into a room and seeing what someone is doing when they do not want to be seen]

A long walk

We're having a great holiday. Yesterday we went for a long walk in the hills. It was longer than it needed to be because Tony misread the map and we walked quite a long way but then came to a big cliff and had to double back¹. We saw lots of wildlife. In the early evening we stumbled on² some deer. At first they were startled and drew back³ from us, but we stood still and they soon relaxed and went back to their grazing. We stood well back so as not to frighten them and watched them for some time. Then we realised that it was getting late and we'd better push on⁴. Anyway, we were bowling along⁵ and making good progress but it was getting dark and I tripped over⁶ a fallen branch. I thought I might have sprained my ankle but we managed to get home and it's fine today.

Seb

² found/met by chance (upon also possible)
³ moved away because they were surprised or afraid
⁴ continue on our walk
⁵ (informal) moving quickly and energetically
⁶ fell because I accidentally hit my foot against something while walking

Animals and plants

Elephants feed on plants. By pulling down trees to eat leaves, breaking off branches and pulling out roots, they create clearings in which new vegetation can grow to provide nutrition in the future. However, their destructive habits have meant that a number of plants are in danger of dying out.

The cherry laurel requires consistently moist soil; do not allow it to dry out. In favourable areas it is very invasive; if you cut the tree down, it will still send out limbs from the root and offshoots from the bottom of the stem. Very hard to dig up. The cherry laurel has small flowers which come out in late spring.

The South African secretary bird preys on insects, snakes, tortoises and rats. Small prey are picked up in the bill and swallowed. Larger prey are first stamped to death and then eaten. The secretary bird also stamps its feet on the ground to flush out prey.

Exercises

47.1 Complete these commentaries from television nature documentaries with the correct phrasal verbs. You are given the first letter each time.

Here in this cold landscape of cliffs and stony beaches, these birds fly (1) the many fish which are found offshore. Seals also paddle (2) the abundant fish stocks. It is hard to imagine that if global warming increases, these wonderful creatures may die (3) and never be seen again at this latitude. Sea levels will rise and eat (4) the cliffs and rocky shores, wash (5) their natural habitats forever. And, paradoxically, as the temperature and sea levels rise, some of the inland lakes may dry (6) altogether, leaving an arid landscape.

These elegant creatures perch (7) the higher branches of trees and eat the succulent leaves. In the course of their feeding, they often bite (8) the branches causing damage to the trees, and even more so by pulling (9) the youngest saplings altogether. Fortunately, nature always revives, and the destroyed and damaged trees sprout (10) new shoots (11) so that, in time, the forest renews itself. Only humans are the real enemy, cut (12) the trees and drive (13) the most precious plants to collect specimens, denuding the forest forever, and all for commercial gain.

47.2 Answer these questions using phrasal verbs or phrasal adjectives from the opposite page.
1. What would happen to a pond if the temperature dropped to -10°C?
2. What might happen to a shallow lake if the weather is very hot and there is no rain for a long time?
3. What adjective can describe the sky when it is grey and covered in cloud?
4. Why is the sea not always at the same place on a beach?
5. If the police suspect that bank robbers are hiding in a forest, what might dogs help them to do?

47.3 Rewrite these sentences using phrasal verbs or phrasal adjectives from the opposite page.
1. As night fell, the stars appeared.
2. The sun became hidden by a cloud and the temperature fell suddenly.
3. Cats (both large and small) lift their young with their teeth to move them around.
4. It was lovely and sunny this morning but now the sky is grey.
5. Many wild animals and plants are on the verge of becoming extinct.

47.4 Complete the encyclopaedia entry, using phrasal verbs from the box in the correct form. Use a dictionary if necessary.

Sun and clouds

If the sun breaks through (the clouds), it starts to appear from behind the clouds.
If the sun beats down, it shines very strongly and makes the air hot.
If some kind of bad weather such as clouds or fog rolls in, it appears in a large amount.
If cloud or smoke blots out the sun, it covers it and prevents it from being seen.
If windows or glasses fog/mist/steam up, they become covered with small drops of water and you can't see through them.

Metaphors

I suspected there would be trouble at the office as soon as the new boss breezed in\(^1\) on his first day. He was very competent and he'd breezed through\(^2\) the job interview apparently, but he had no patience at all for anyone less able and he had a very sharp tongue. I noticed that as soon as he spoke to anyone, their face clouded over\(^3\). He asked the office junior to explain some contradictory figures in such an aggressive manner that she froze up\(^4\) and couldn't say a word. I could see her eyes misting over\(^5\). By the end of that first day, his PA had stormed out\(^6\), saying she would never return. The rest of us got together in the evening and decided that we had no choice but to try to freeze him out\(^7\). We agreed only to speak to him if we absolutely had to.

7. make him feel that he is not welcome by being unfriendly
Exercises

48.1 Complete the text below, using the correct particles from A opposite.
The weather forecast said that there would be rain later on but we were all hoping that it would hold .......... (1) until Julia's birthday barbecue was over. When we first arrived, the sun was beating ............ (2) and some people were too hot. But then grey clouds appeared and the rain came ............... (3). At first it was quite light but then it began to pelt ............... (4). We had to cook indoors but Julia wasn't too disappointed.

48.2 Mark these sentences with a (•) if you are happy in this situation or a (○) if you are not happy in this situation. Explain your answers.
1 Your pipes at home freeze up while you are on a skiing holiday.
2 You receive a letter that makes your face cloud over.
3 You are walking by the sea when fog rolls in.
4 You can hear the rain beating down outside as you sit by a big log fire.
5 You are on a long country walk and the rain holds off.
6 You have to give a speech at a friend's wedding and you freeze up.
7 You breeze through an important exam.
8 You storm out of a meeting.
9 A group of friends start to freeze you out.

Tourist brochures

The unspoilt little market town of Steeple Bunting stretches out along the winding River Tare. The town is steeped in history and great care has been taken to ensure that modern buildings blend well and do not encroach on the 16th-century centre. A particularly well-preserved building from that period is Elderflower Cottage, a delightful half-timbered house set back from the High Street. The beauty of this white-walled cottage is set off by the colourful flower gardens which surround it and visitors must also not miss the walled herb garden which opens off the rose garden. There are many other must-see sights in Steeple Bunting and the town is dotted with pleasant cafés where you can relax if you just want to sit and soak up the atmosphere. The town is bursting with tourists at the weekend and visitors who prefer to avoid crowds are advised to come during the week.

KINGSMILL RENOVATIONS TO BEGIN NEXT WEEK

The run-down Kingsmill area near the city’s football ground is at last about to be done up. Signs have gone up around the area indicating that work will start next Monday. The first stage of work will affect the buildings which back onto the football ground and Stadium Road will be closed off from Monday morning while the area is reduced to rubble. Drivers wishing to access the stadium car park will need to approach it by Grant Lane, which branches off Rampart Street just after the petrol station.

Local resident Hilda James (74) told us, ‘I’ll be glad to see the back of the boarded-up windows in the area. It’s very dangerous – a ceiling fell in once when my grandsons were playing in one of the abandoned buildings.’

Local architects Taylor and Summers have been employed to design the reconstruction and readers can visit their office to examine the plans showing how the area will be laid out and to see a large-scale mock-up. Richard Taylor commented, ‘The renovations will inevitably be expensive but we hope that the costs will to some extent be offset by the use of reclaimed sandstone, slate and even rubble.’

TIP If you notice a phrasal verb in a text, it may be useful to copy out the whole sentence. This can help you to be able to use it as well as understand it.
Exercises

49.1 Complete these two emails, using phrasal verbs or adjectives from the opposite page.

Hi Rosanne,
Here I am in my new flat. It's in an old house (1) back from the road in a big garden, on the top of a hill. The town (2) out below us. It's an old town, (3) in history, but (4) with all the excitement of a big modern city. Sometimes I just stroll through the streets (5) up the atmosphere. From the back of the house we look up into the hills, which are (6) with little white houses. The road that runs past our house branches (7) down to the river, so it's a nice place to go for a walk. I hope you can come and see me.
All the best,
Pedro

Hi Pedro,
Now you've left university you can live in luxury, but I'm still a poor student. June and I have moved into our accommodation for this year. It's in a rather (8) part of town which was rich and prosperous years ago, but now there are lots of (9) shops and cheap restaurants. We're in a house that backs (10) an old factory whose roof has fallen (11) and next to that was another building which has been completely (12) to rubble and the area is all closed (13). So it couldn't be more different from your view! The flat itself is OK. There's a living room and a small kitchen which opens (14) it, then two bedrooms and the bathroom. We've talked to the landlord and he's going to let us do it (15) and he'll pay for the paint and stuff. It may not be the Mediterranean, but it's home.
Love,
Rosanne

49.2 Correct the mistakes with the phrasal verbs in these sentences.
1 New housing developments are encroaching against the countryside on the edge of town.
2 Those climbing red roses really set that old white cottage out, don't they?
3 The architects made a large-scale mock-on of the new shopping centre.
4 The plain lines of the marble walls are upset by the ornate windows; together they produce a harmonious building.
5 This plan shows how the area will be lied out when it is redeveloped.
6 Signs have gone out round the area to be demolished warning the public to keep away.
7 The 1960s buildings do not blend on very well with the older houses around them.
8 The whole area is steeped with history.

49.3 Answer these questions.
1 Can you name a modern building that blends in well with older surroundings?
2 What is the nearest place to you that is sometimes bursting with tourists?
3 To what extent do you think that the place you live in is steeped in tradition?
4 What does your own home back onto?

Driving

Read about Barry’s nightmare car journey and note the phrasal verbs.

The whole journey was a complete nightmare. I’d only been going five minutes on the motorway when somebody cut in¹ on me and I had to brake really quickly to avoid an accident, but that was only the start of it. A bit further on I pulled out² to overtake a big lorry but as I did, my engine just died. I tried revving the engine and after a couple of seconds it started again, but I had to change down³ and get back into the slow lane and go very slowly indeed. Because I was so slow, I was flagged down⁴ by a police officer who checked the car and told me that one of my tyres was worn. He said it wasn’t illegal and let me continue but warned me to get it changed. The car started again without any problems, so I set off again, picked up⁵ speed, and after a couple of miles, guess what, the worn tyre blew out⁶! The police were right. So I changed the tyre, which was another half hour wasted. Then I picked up a student who was hitch-hiking – I felt sorry for him. After a while we branched off⁷ the motorway and I left him where he wanted to be and went to a nearby café for a cup of tea. When I came out, someone had blocked me in⁸. Then to cap it all, I realised the student had stolen my camera from the back seat!

¹ suddenly drove in front of me, not leaving enough space between the two vehicles

The news

How journalists get the news

Some news comes from press releases that are put out by companies or organisations. However, journalists also pick up stories from their contacts. Occasionally a story gets out when a politician or film star confides in someone who is not discreet. Sometimes a rumour starts and journalists sound out people in the know to check its truth. It may sometimes be difficult for them to root out the information they want but journalists get very good at worming stories out of people who don't want to talk to them. Sometimes they may stake out their potential subject's house until they get the story they want. In fact, the ability to ferret out a story may be as important for a journalist as the ability to write it up well.

PENSIONS PROTEST
A major protest took place yesterday after news leaked out about the government's plans to raise the retirement age. Workers of all ages walked out from factories and offices to join in public demonstrations. Police attempts to head off the main protest march failed but fortunately all the demonstrations passed off without any major incidents. The government has denied that it is planning to use force to put down any future protests.

BROOKES JOINS INFLUENTIAL COMMITTEE
Tim Brookes, the MP for Hamley, has been voted on to the Environmental Committee. Brookes has been an MP since his party first got in in 1997 and he claims that his main ambition has always been to get onto this important committee. There were a number of powerful contenders for the place which became free when Dan Herzog retired but Brookes succeeded in whipping up considerable support and won the coveted place. Brookes' critics say that he has a tendency to dumb down complex issues but he argues that anything that gets people talking about the environment is worthwhile.

Email gossip

Hi Jim,
I wasn’t at all surprised to hear that Ken and Maria are getting engaged, were you? The way they’ve been looking at each other was a real give-away, wasn’t it? And Maria almost let the secret out a couple of weeks ago anyway, even though they continued to make out that they were just good friends. They seem to be crazy about each other!

Steve

1 (informal) something that makes you aware of a fact that someone else was trying to keep secret
2 claim falsely that something is true

Dear Kim,
I need to confide in you. I’ve been suspecting for a long time that one of my employees, George, has been stealing from the till at work, so I actually hired a private detective. He dug up a few unpleasant facts, I’m afraid. George has had a number of convictions for theft already. But the detective hasn’t managed to prove that he is stealing from us. So I’ve decided to just play along and pretend I don’t know, to see if I can catch him out, you know, just see if he gives anything away without realising it. Am I doing the right thing, do you think, or should I confront him?

Rick

3 tell someone things that you keep secret from other people
4 discovered new facts about a person or situation after a lot of searching
5 (informal) pretend to agree with someone, or to do what someone wants for a short time, in order to get something from them or to avoid making them angry
6 discover that someone is lying or doing something wrong
7 lets someone know something that should be kept secret, often by mistake
Exercises

52.1 Answer these questions about the headlines in A opposite.
1 What was the aim of the investigation and what did it discover?
2 Why might the company have wanted to hush up the scandal?
3 What is the third headline implying about the government?
4 Why might the Prime Minister want to paper over what was happening in the Cabinet?
5 Does it sound as if the report supports or condemns the ministers’ behaviour?
6 What has the former spy just admitted?

52.2 Match the beginning of each sentence with its ending.
1 Fortunately, my research bore a) in someone.
2 Please just play b) up a good scandal.
3 I wish I could confide c) out your secret.
4 Journalists love to dig d) on her.
5 I’m so sorry I let e) with her.
6 We did all we could to hush f) out my original hypothesis.
7 My girlfriend begged me to level g) along with the story I tell Mary.
8 Tanya accused Josef of spying h) up the scandal in the company.

52.3 Correct the ten mistakes with particles in this paragraph.

As journalists, it is our job to try to do dig stories that dishonest people are trying to cover up. Sometimes we are accused of digging at innocent people but surely it is our duty not to allow people to paper up their scandals. Often it is not at all difficult to learn secrets. People are often eager to confide with someone who is willing to lend a sympathetic ear. Or they let off a secret without realising it. Little things like a blush or a quick glance at someone else can be a real give-out to an experienced reporter. Of course, sometimes people try to make over that they have nothing to hide and then it can be a good idea to play on with them up to a certain point. Then you suddenly take them by surprise with an unexpected question and in this way you can often catch them across.

52.4 Which word could fit into all the sentences in each set? Look in your dictionary for any new meanings.

1 The lawyer tried to ............... the accused out in a lie.
   Be aware of exam questions designed to ............... you out.
   Every year unexpected snowstorms ............... people out.

2 Helga likes to ............... out that she has a very important job.
   Can you ............... out that small yacht on the horizon?
   Who should I ............... this cheque out to?

3 Please take care not to ............... my secret out.
   This skirt is too tight – I’ll have to ............... it out.
   Don’t forget to ............... the cat out before you go to bed.

4 The way his hands were shaking ............... away his nervousness.
   The company ............... away six new cars as part of their advertising campaign.
   It was meant as a surprise but Irena ............... the game away.
Obeying rules and laws

Judge: Well, Mr Smith. I am pleased to say the police have at last caught up with you.

Mr Smith: But, I’m innocent, My Lord. Breaking the law would be going against my principles.

Judge: Well, several of your fellow criminals have informed on you.

Mr Smith: Just wait till I see them!

Judge: They say you make a habit of persuading old ladies to sign over their property to you.

Mr Smith: But they did it of their own free will.

Judge: I’m going to have to impose a substantial sentence on you.

Mr Smith: But what if I promise to abide by the law in the future?

Judge: Well, you certainly need to do that and, who knows, if you adhere to the rules in prison, you might be let out early but I’m certainly not going to let you off your punishment.

PROGRESS ON GAMBLING

The government has long been anxious to introduce a new law relating to gambling. The intention is to toughen up the existing legislation, making all types of gambling come under the authority of the Gambling Control Body, giving the GCB considerable powers and providing for the imprisonment of serious offenders. The initial proposals for the law were thrown out at the committee stage. However, some modifications were made and the new proposals went through the committee stage last week. The next step is for them to be voted on in Parliament. It is expected that they will get through without difficulty, as there is general cross-party agreement that the current laws have too many loop-holes and should be tightened up. Once passed, the new regulations will be rolled out gradually over the coming year.

Eating

Have fun with your food

Readers' tips for enjoying mealtimes.

It's better to have good big meals than just pick at things all day.
Don't gobble your food down – take your time, enjoy it. If you wolf it down, you won't even taste what you're eating.
Don't just eat in every day; spoil yourself at least once a week by having a meal in a restaurant.
Or if you feel like staying at home, send out for something.
Have friends round and serve up something special.
For an easy meal, just buy lots of pizzas, slice them up and let everyone help themselves to what they want.
Make sure you're aware of what foods agree with you and what don't. Avoid anything that disagrees with you – even if it tastes good. You'll regret it later.
Cut out fry-ups and eat more salads – you're bound to feel healthier.
Eat lots of raw vegetables – they will fill you up without making you put on weight.

1 eat small amounts
2 (informal) eat very fast
3 (informal) eat very fast
4 eat at home
5 phone a restaurant and ask for food to be delivered to you
6 put on a plate for oneself
7 makes you feel slightly ill or uncomfortable

Come

Typical meanings of come in phrasal verbs

You may have already met some phrasal verbs with come in this book or elsewhere. For example, come in [start speaking during a discussion (Unit 12) or, for the sea, come nearer to the beach or coast (Unit 47)], come at somebody [move towards someone in order to attack them (Unit 22)], come at something [think about something in a particular way (Unit 25)] come down [pass from one generation to another so that it continues (Unit 11) or, for a price or level, become lower (Unit 11)].

Come typically expresses movement and the particle shows the direction of the movement. Come in above suggests a person ‘entering’ a discussion. Come at someone suggests directing oneself at/towards someone and come at something suggests directing one’s thoughts to a particular subject. Come down suggests moving through time (from the more distant past towards the present).

More phrasal verbs with come

Look at these extracts from two interviews for Policy and Finance magazine.

Interviewer: You are often seen as a survivor. How did you survive your difficult second term in government? Was it just luck?

Politician: Luck? No, luck doesn’t come into it\(^1\). You have to work in politics. As you know, the party came in for\(^2\) a lot of criticism on its tax policy and was also coming under\(^3\) attack from pensioners’ groups. We were coming across\(^4\) as insensitive to ordinary people’s needs and problems, so we needed new ideas. I came up against\(^5\) critics in my own party, and it was a difficult period, but we came through\(^6\) it because we were strong and determined to succeed.

\(^1\) (usually negative) have an influence  \(^2\) received (collocates with criticism or praise)  \(^3\) getting a lot of  \(^4\) being seen by others  \(^5\) faced  \(^6\) managed to get to the end of a difficult situation

Interviewer: You once came out with\(^1\) a famous remark that surprised everyone: ‘Capitalism is dead.’ Do you still believe that?

Economist: I was misquoted. What I said was that in a period when new technology was coming in and replacing traditional employment patterns in the workplace, we needed to rethink our basic economics. Other economies which have combined capitalism with a caring social framework have come off\(^2\) better in the long term. If our standards of employment and social care are to come up to\(^3\) those of our neighbours, then we need something other than a traditional form of capitalism. And this is where a more cooperative approach comes in\(^4\). Our workers’ general life-skills have come on\(^5\) a long way since the days of mass manual labour and we have to involve them and their skills in a more democratic way. A new era has to come into\(^6\) being or we will simply be left behind.

\(^1\) suddenly said  \(^2\) ended up in a good position (come off better) or bad position (come off worse) because of an argument or some kind of struggle  \(^3\) reach  \(^4\) is involved  \(^5\) improved  \(^6\) begin

Getting down to a good gossip

Alice: Hi, Jean! Haven't seen you for ages. What have you been getting up to1 recently? Anything interesting?
Jean: Well, I've been getting around2 quite a lot actually, mainly for work. I've been to Italy a couple of times and Ireland, visiting our offices. But I've also been getting into3 golf recently and I managed to get in4 a few rounds between meetings.
Alice: That's great. It's good if you can get something out of5 the trips for yourself as well as for work.
Jean: That's right. In fact, I'm finding it quite hard to get back into6 the ordinary office routine now.
Alice: Well, let's get together one evening soon and catch up properly on all the news.

1 doing
2 travelling to different places
3 becoming keen on
4 find time for
5 get benefit from
6 return to (after some time)

Many phrasal verbs have a whole range of different meanings. There are, for example, about 20 different definitions for get in and get into in the Cambridge Phrasal Verbs Dictionary. If you come across a phrasal verb and it doesn't make sense with any meaning that you know, look it up online at www.dictionary.cambridge.org to see if it has a different meaning in that context.

Keep

Phrasal verbs with keep

In this book or elsewhere, you may have already met keep in with someone [be friendly with someone because they can help you (Unit 5)], keep up with something [be able to understand or deal with something that is developing very fast (Unit 25)] and keep it up [don’t stop doing (Unit 31)]. This unit presents more of the many other phrasal verbs with keep.

Describing problems

My son has been kept in at school several times recently but he won’t tell me why. I can’t understand why he should want to keep this to himself. He normally tells me everything and doesn’t keep anything back. Should I go behind his back and ask his teacher or should I keep out of it and hope that he will tell me in his own time?

I’m a medical student and up till now I’ve managed to keep ahead of the other students in my year. I really want to do well in my exams. However, now I have a problem with my flatmate. He always wants to spend hours discussing his problems with me and this is keeping me from my studies. What should I put first — work or friendship?

I love my husband very much but there are two things about him that really annoy me. Firstly, he goes out to play darts every Friday evening but he always forgets his keys and I can’t go to bed till he comes home. It is infuriating to be kept up like this as I work on Saturdays. Secondly, he is very proud and never asks for help. So, if we’re driving and we get lost, he’ll keep on until he finds a signpost or something, rather than just stop to ask someone the way. Should I try to change him or just accept these irritating habits?

Some advice

- Keep off sugary drinks if you want to stay slim.
- If you are on a diet, or on a budget, a bowl of homemade soup is a good and inexpensive way to keep your strength up.
- Keep your music down late at night or you’ll annoy your neighbours.
- When answering an exam question, you will get better marks if you keep to the point.
- When you buy a house, remember to budget for its upkeep as this can be very costly.

Keep at it and you’ll get on top of those phrasal verbs.
Exercises

59.1 Complete these emails using the correct particles.

Can you believe it?
Meg

Hi there Jacko,
Thanks for the invitation to the week in France, but I think you’re trying to keep .......... (4) my studies, you bad man! Seriously, I really shouldn’t take any more time off. My new year’s resolution is to keep .......... (5) with my studies, so I’m trying to do five hours a day, five days a week. If I had a week off, I think I’d find it hard to keep .......... (6) the momentum.
Fran

Dear Chris,
Kate’s had a row with Archie and she wants me to help sort it out. I think I should keep .......... (7) it. What do you think? I find it hard to keep .......... (8) all the ups and downs of their love life. I think they should solve their own problems, don’t you?
Yvonne

Take

Typical meanings of take in phrasal verbs

Take often carries a meaning of 'remove', as in:

- We hope you will take many happy memories away from your stay here.
- Phil's boss has agreed to take him off the night shift.
- Helen took her parents out for a meal. (Unit 42)

Take also sometimes carries a meaning of doing something quickly or something happening quickly or abruptly, for example, Take it away! (Unit 31), take aback [surprise], take off (of a plane) and take out [kill or destroy in a military battle].

Organising a charity concert

I must say I was taken aback\(^1\) when I saw how much cost was involved but I wanted it to be a memorable experience for people. A huge amount of time was taken up\(^2\) with phone calls persuading sponsors to be involved, and so on. The uptake\(^3\) was slow at first, but bit by bit we managed to persuade local companies and individuals to support us. The work didn't end when the concert was over. We spent a whole day taking down\(^4\) the stage set and lighting and so on, but none of that took away from\(^5\) the pleasure we got organising it. And I think the audience took away\(^6\) something that will stay with them for a long time. Overall it was worth it — a great experience for all involved.

1 very surprised
2 used
3 number of people who committed themselves
4 removing by separating into pieces and taking the pieces away
5 made it seem less good or successful
6 remember [used about e.g. a memory, an impression, a message]

Dear Mr Janes,
Thank you for your letter of 23 May 2005 complaining about the bad service you experienced at this hotel. I promise you we will investigate the problem at once and respond to you as soon as possible. We always try to achieve/meet the highest standards of service, and if we have failed to meet/achieve those standards we will immediately seek to remedy the situation. Meanwhile we hope you will continue making Miromana Hotels your first choice for all your business and leisure travel.

Yours sincerely,
G. H. Logan (General Manager)

7.4 Possible answers:
1 If someone warms up an audience they make it more receptive and friendly, more relaxed (perhaps by telling some jokes). Coldness in English equates with unfriendliness and warmth with friendliness. Warming up people and warming up food both have the idea of making something pleasanter.
2 If someone falls into a job they get it very easily and without making any effort. So both falling into a hole and falling into a job have the idea of something happening by chance.
3 If you climb down in an argument you admit that you were wrong. So both uses of climb down suggest moving back to the level of other people from a position in which you were separated from others.

18.2 1 Bill puts the problems down to the government but I attribute them to the general world economic situation.
2 To a large extent, how a person accounts for the problems in their lives seems to depend largely on/upon their own parents’ attitudes to difficult situations.
3 I believe the new legislation will contribute to a general improvement in the standard of living but Ben thinks it will result in increased poverty for most people.
4 The desire for reform has come out of a general desire to improve the situation but I suspect the proposed changes may rebound on the government.
5 The proposals are rooted in an appropriate awareness of the problems that exist but I do not feel that what is proposed adds up to a coherent programme of action.

18.3 1 The school’s rituals and traditions are rooted in its long history.
2 My father puts the problem down to a decline in moral values.
3 How do you think the changes will impact on/upon your business?
4 The economic recession inevitably resulted in increased unemployment.
5 How would you account for the recent increase in violent crime?
6 Ken’s criticism of Anna may rebound on him now that she’s his boss!
7 I do not feel that the writer’s analysis of the problem adds up.
8 Some unforeseen problems have come out of the change in legislation.

18.4 Author’s answers:
1 I’d put global warming largely down to increased air and road travel.
2 I think a dramatic change in social values has led to the current increase in violent crime in most societies.
3 I’d account for it by saying that girls tend to be more inclined to work harder at school than boys – though of course there are plenty of exceptions.
4 I’d attribute the success of the MP3 player to the huge amount of music it can hold and to its attractive design.
5 I’d point to the prevalence of materialistic attitudes as one main cause of social problems today.
6 My own interest in English stems from the fact that I had very good English teachers when I was at school.
7 I think that mobile phones have resulted in more communication between people – it’s so much easier to keep in touch with friends and family.
8 For me the main thing that contributes to the difficulty of phrasal verbs is the fact that one verb – like, say, make out – can have so many different meanings.

3 flooding 8 stick/stay
4 associate 9 store
5 coming 10 conjure/summon/call

20.3 In each case the play on words depends on the literal meaning of the basic verb in the phrasal verb.
1. To stir up memories means to make memories, often unpleasant ones, appear in your mind. A cook stirs ingredients e.g. the ingredients for a cake or batter for pancakes.
2. Conjure up memories means to make you remember things from the past. A magician traditionally conjures a rabbit out of a hat.
3. Call up memories means to evoke memories or make someone remember something. Another meaning of call up is to require young men to become soldiers.
4. If a memory sticks with you, then you don’t forget it. Glue is used to stick something to something else. The first meaning of stick here is metaphorical and the second is literal.
5. If memories come flooding back you suddenly remember a lot of things very clearly. When pipes burst – this typically happens if they freeze and then the ice melts – then there will be a flood.

20.4 Author’s answers:
1. I associate my childhood with the colour green because I spent so much time playing in the garden at home.
2. The smell of lavender reminds me of my childhood because we had a lot of lavender growing in our garden.
3. The pop music of the 1970s always conjures up memories of my youth.
4. I would like to block out the memory of school dinners, particularly of the awful macaroni cheese we were forced to eat.
5. I think that music makes memories come back to me more powerfully, although smells can also be very potent.

4 We've had some setbacks but we'll press on.
5 I only got up to page 12 of the book before I got bored and stopped reading it.
21.4  1 Wind up means to finish/terminate something. It is also what you do to a non-electric clock or watch to make it work.
2 Sprout up means to suddenly appear. A Brussels sprout is also a vegetable.
3 Press on means to continue in a determined way. Dry cleaners also press clothes (remove creases by using an iron or a pressing machine).
4 Spring up means to appear suddenly. A trampoline has springs, which contract and expand, making it possible for a person to bounce up and down on it.
5 Training shoes are worn by athletes when running. To run out of money means to have no money left.

26.1 1 The basic meaning is collecting up animals who have ranged over a wide area of land, e.g. a sheepdog rounds up sheep or a cowboy rounds up cattle. With a different meaning, round up (a number / a total) also refers to raising a number or total to the nearest whole number, e.g. The bill was £9.20 so we rounded it up to £10 and gave the waiter a £10 note. See Unit 27.
2 a cushion
3 pile up
4 looking for something important among things which are not so important
5 Some of the uses of ‘up’ do have similar meanings. In prop up, pile up and stack up the particle suggests up rather than down. In gather up, round up and line up, the particle suggests ‘together’.

28.4 Oliver has always wanted to become an engineer but it was quite difficult for him to get a place at college. He didn’t get in at his first attempt, losing out to applicants with better exam grades. However, at his second try he succeeded in winning a place. He then sailed through all his first-year exams, but failed some of his exams in the second year, as he started spending a lot of time on the rugby pitch, playing for the college first team, rather than in the library. Then his team fell behind in the college league after three games, so he wasn’t too happy and he did even less work, and as a result he failed three exams. However, he’s always prided himself on being able to revise very efficiently when he’s really under pressure, and in the third year he did enough to pull himself through. His friends were amazed that he managed to carry it off, as they were sure he could not have packed in enough study in such a short time to get through the exams. But Oliver knew that he had only just got by/through and he resolved to organise his life much better after leaving college.

32.2  1 Louise always flings herself into her work.
2 I really think that it is time you knuckled down to your studies.
3 As a research scientist, you just have to keep plugging away at your experiments and eventually you’ll get results.
4 If this morning’s meeting goes smoothly, I should be able to get off by 1 pm.
5 The meeting was going well until we got bogged down in the details of the sales conference party.
6 I’m not sure exactly what I’m going to say in my speech but I’m sure I’ll be able to cobbled something together by tomorrow morning.
7 There comes a time when it is best for an older manager to step aside and let a younger person take over.
8 I always say that if you start a job, you should see it through.

32.3  I’d hate a job where I could just coast along without needing to think about what I was doing. I’d far rather keep busy and really don’t mind how much I have to slog away each day. I’d soon pack in any job that didn’t keep me working hard. I fling myself into everything I do. Even when I was at school, I used to beaver away at my homework as soon as I got home from school. My brothers certainly never used to knuckle down to work in the way I did.

32.4  1 I can’t stand the sight of blood, so I’m not really cut out for nursing.
2 If you hate your job so much, why don’t you just hand in your notice?

8 The book is aimed at undergraduate students who have little previous knowledge of the subject.
9 For me, this song sums up the atmosphere in rural England in the 1960s. (Note that up would not be put after the object in a sentence like this because the object is very long.)
10 Much of the book is devoted to the writer's experiences in the United States.
Follow up
Possible answer:
Soviet education was founded upon the belief that all children could succeed, given the right support. The school system was based upon the teachings of Marx and Lenin and it aimed at providing the best education possible for all pupils, regardless of their social background. It must be remembered that, at the beginning, Soviet education had many problems to contend with. As well as widespread illiteracy and a low level of resources, there were plenty of people who objected to the new Soviet regime, saying that citizens were being deprived of basic freedoms. Yet, although many people are critical of other aspects of Soviet society, it cannot be denied that the authorities invested a great deal in the education system. This catered well for Soviet youth, most of whom profited from the education they received. Teachers were respected professionals who devoted themselves to their pupils, doing all they could to interest them in their lessons and insisting upon high standards in the classroom. To summarise, if we refer to most contemporary accounts of the Soviet education process, we find that it resulted in a well-educated population.

44.2
Possible answers:
1 You need to loosen up / warm up.
2 You may screw up your eyes.
3 It may take you some time to thaw out.
4 You have to pick yourself up.
5 You turn around (or swing around perhaps if you do it very quickly).
6 They tense up.
7 They waste away.
8 You may double up (in pain).

44.3  I'm rather worried about my neighbour. I saw her the other day in the garden and she was doubled up in pain. She also looks as if she is wasting away. I asked her about it and she said she was just trying to lose some weight, but she clearly didn't like my talking about it and I could sense her tensing up. I think she's probably been doing far too much exercise. She spends hours outside bending down to touch the ground or spreading out her arms and swinging them in circles. I can see that she's screwing up her face in pain and I long to tell her to relax a bit.

44.4  1 You must be freezing – do come inside and thaw out.
2 Look at me – now turn round.
3 The little girl was (lying) curled up on her bed with her thumb in her mouth.
4 When the teacher turned his back, the boy stuck his tongue out at him.
5 If you don't eat more, you'll waste away.
6 The stand-up comic was so good that we spent the evening doubled up (laughing).

44.5  In each case the play on words depends on another meaning of the base verb.
1 Double means two or twice and obviously there are two twins.
2 A screw is a piece of metal used by carpenters to fix things together.
3 Tense is a grammatical term which you are certainly familiar with as a student of English.

Follow up
Author's answer:
I had a wonderful holiday once driving down the Rhone Valley with a friend and her husband. We set off from Switzerland, where they were living at the time, in their British car which had the steering wheel on the right-hand side. The problem was that her husband, the only driver among us, couldn't stand having another car in front of him. If a car picked up enough speed to pass us, he insisted on immediately pulling out to overtake it. Yet, because he was on the right-hand side of the car, he didn't have a clear view of the road ahead so he'd cut in ahead of the car he'd overtaken in an alarming way to avoid crashing into the oncoming traffic. In the end we were flagged down by a policeman who told him off for driving in such a dangerous way. Although we saw some great places, I was quite relieved when we got back to Switzerland without having had any serious accidents.

52.2 1 f 2 g 3 a 4 b 5 c 6 h 7 e 8 d

52.3 As journalists it is our job to try to dig up stories that dishonest people are trying to cover up. Sometimes we are accused of spying on innocent people but surely it is our duty not to allow people to paper over their scandals. Often it is not at all difficult to learn secrets. People are often eager to confide in someone who is willing to lend a sympathetic ear. Or they let out a secret without realising it. Little things like a blush or a quick glance at someone else can be a real give-away to an experienced reporter. Of course, sometimes people try to make out that they have nothing to hide and then it can be a good idea to play along with them up to a certain point. Then you suddenly take them by surprise with an unexpected question and in this way you can often catch them out.
